Convention Confirms Lodge As Running Mate

East-West Ticket Set Up By GOP

U.N. Ambassador,
Nixon's Selection,
Goes Unchallenged

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP) — The Republican National Convention Thursday night placed Henry Cabot Lodge by the side of presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon to challenge the Democrats in the crucial 1960 election.

It was a swift, foreordained action—on the first ballot. And the convention rolled on toward the acceptance speeches — Nixon for the presidency, Lodge for the vice presidency — and then final adjournment.

The GOP thus set up an East-West ticket: the 47-year-old Californian who has served 7½-year apprenticeship in the vice presidency, and the 58-year-old Massachusetts blueblood, who has put in the same tour of duty in the United Nations as U.S. ambassador.

That will be the lineup against the Democratic array of Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas.

Holdout Changes Mind

Lodge was nominated by a vote of 1330, with one delegate abstaining.

The holdout was Ed Maher of San Angelo, Tex., who changed his mind to make it unanimous.

Asked why he had abstained at first he told a reporter: "Just say I'm hot."

Lodge was Nixon's personal selection for the Republican team. Nobody rose up to challenge it. Lodge had been offered to roaring convention delegates as a man who has been "tested and proved in the fires of today's world."

"You have conferred a great honor on me," Lodge told the delegates. "With all my heart I thank you for your trust."

And he said that in "a world so full of dangers" he will pour every ounce of his energy into the coming campaign.

But the man who first came to a political convention here as a newspaper reporter in 1932 gave over much of his acceptance address to lauding Nixon.

"On his experience on his talents," he said, "I submit that there is no man in America who could represent us in the turmoil of world politics—and I specifically include the Soviet Union and the rest of the Communist empire—as Richard Nixon would do."

"Life And Death Struggle"

"My fellow Americans, the basic contest in the world is no old-fashioned traditional partisan rivalry between the Republicans and the Democrats. The basic contest is the life and death struggle between the Communists on the one hand and those who insist on being free on the other."

"This is what gives this election of 1960 its compelling, overwhelming importance to us and to the world. I impose on us all the duty to give nothing less than our very best, our most experienced, our most talented to the presidency of our country."

It was Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota, who had been mentioned prominently for the vice presidency himself, who took the speakers' rostrum in this huge amphitheater beside the Chicago stockyards and delivered the nominating speech.

The minute he mentioned Lodge's name, right at the end, the hall erupted with a thundering ovation that lasted six minutes.

The U.N. ambassador flew in from New York by jet plane and got a tumultuous welcome from his home state Massachusetts delegation at the airport. A motorcade brought him to the Stockyards Inn, beside this convention hall, and he checked into a suite while the demonstration for him was going full blast.

Nixon And Kennedy TV Debates Set Up

Democratic Nominee Accepts Invitation

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—An unprecedented series of four face-to-face television debates between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy in their presidential race was set up Thursday.

Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, quickly accepted an invitation from Robert W. Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., to appear in a "great debate" on the air.

Nixon, the Republican nominee, received an identical invitation. His press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, said in Chicago he assumed arrangements would be worked out for Nixon to participate.

This would be the first TV discussion in U.S. history by major rivals for the White House on the main issues.

Kline noted that Nixon had told a news conference Monday he would be willing to debate Kennedy on television if proper conditions could be arranged.

He said in view of this he assumed the debate would be set up.

Sarnoff told the candidates by telegram that the aim was to devote four programs, of an hour each, to "joint discussions of the issues."

Four other programs of an hour each would be scheduled for questioning of the candidates by journalistic panels.

Kennedy questioned the sincerity of Republican intentions to live up to their platform.

Kennedy's questioning of whether the Republicans could or would carry out their platform came in a news conference on the front porch of the beachfront home of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain. The elder Kennedy presently is in Europe.

Standing at a railing, bordered by shrubbery and rambling roses, Kennedy said the platforms of both the major parties committed them to great goals.

"I doubt the commitment of the Republican party," he said. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

United Air Lines, Capital Announce Merger Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The presidents of United Air Lines and Capital Airlines announced Thursday that the two firms plan to merge.

The joint statement by United President W. A. Patterson and Capital Board Chairman T. D. Neelands Jr. said the agreement was approved by the Vickers-Armstrong, Ltd., which holds $34 million in mortgages on Capital equipment.

Although the proposed transaction was described as a merger, it in effect would amount to acquisition of Capital by United. The combined firm would be called United Air Lines.

The announcement said Capital shareholders would receive one share of United common stock and a five-year warrant to buy 1½ shares of United at $40 per share for each seven shares of Capital common stock.

The merger agreement was subject to approval of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and United and Capital stockholders, the announcement said.

It said Sir Charles Dunphrie, chairman of Vickers-Armstrong, said the firm would "support the proposed merger."

The statement said an offer would be made by prospectus to the holders of Capital's 4½ percent convertible subordinated debentures of 20 shares of United common stock for each $1,000 principal amount of debentures.

Patterson said United is putting $28.8 million cash into the deal and plans to use 41 prop-jet Viscounts on some of United's routes in excess of 300 miles. Fifteen Viscounts will be returned to Vickers.

Republicans Draw Soviet Press Blast

Tass Declares U.S. World Domination Apparent GOP Aim

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet press accused the Republican party Thursday of striving for establishment of world domination by the United States.

A dispatch of the official news agency Tass dismissed the nomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency with a single sentence, but made a long and angry assault upon the Republican platform.

"It is unequivocally stated in the preamble of the platform that the leadership of the Republican party is striving for the establishment of world domination by the United States," Tass said. "The platform clearly indicates that if the Republican party comes to power it intends to make extensive increases in aggressive military preparation a basic point of its foreign policy."

The Soviet Communist party has described both Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic nominee, as advocates of an arms race and of endangering peace.

Moscow Pravda, newspaper of the Moscow city party committee and little sister of the central party newspaper Pravda, assailed Nixon Thursday as a "weathercock and chameleon" linked with Wall Street bankers and advocating a brink-of-war policy.

For the most part, the Soviet press has paid little attention to the Republican National Convention in Chicago. The Soviet people invariably are told there is no real difference between the two big American parties, that both are servants of millionaires and monopolies.

The Tass dispatch said New York's governor, Nelson A. Rockefeller, was responsible for some of the Republican platform and that his recent agreement with Vice President Nixon gave "a really aggressive nature" to foreign policy and military planks of the platform.

Dag And Congo Leader Confer On Unity Issue

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld arrived here Thursday in the middle of a new uproar over independence demands by the rich Congolese province of Katanga.

Congolese President Joseph Kasu Vubu announced Thursday night that he and his advisers "have made a certain decision" about the province which contains 60 per cent of the Congo's wealth in minerals and other materials.

Katanga Premier Moïse Tshombe announced in Elisabethville, his capital, that he was sending a delegation to New York led by his foreign minister, Pierre Masangu, to defend Katanga's claim to independence and inform world public opinion.

Hammarskjöld, who arrived here by launch from Brazzaville in the Congo Republic (formerly the French Congo) across the Congo River, was greeted by a cheering crowd and a banner which read, "down with Tshombe. The Congo stays united."

He later held a short talk with Kasu Vubu who said he had informed the U.N. official of the "general situation" in the Congo.

Kasu Vubu said he would inform Hammarskjöld later of the decision he and his advisers had made and reported he was optimistic about the situation. The president indicated he still felt strongly about keeping Katanga in the Congo.

"There is only one Congo and the Katanga is part of that Congo," he said.

The announcement about the decision led observers to speculate that politicians who have advocated a Congo of six nearly-autonomous, federated states were gaining ground for their position.

Kasu Vubu himself long has held out for this type of government while Premier Patrice Lumumba, visiting in the United States, advocates a unified Congo with a strong central government.

Ike Approves $53,200,000 Loan To Peru

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — President Eisenhower, planning a good-will aid program for Latin America generally, Thursday approved a $53,200,000 loan to Peru to encourage development of that nation's economy.

Announcement of the action was made as the President was getting in a few days of rest in this Colorado capital after his visit to the Republican National Convention in Chicago.

In a statement, Eisenhower said the loan to Peru is in line with objectives of the assistance program he sketched for south-of-the-border nations July 11. The President expects to set forth that program in detail after Congress reconvenes next month.

Referring to his July 11 announcement, Eisenhower recalled that he stated then "that a new affirmation of (U.S.) purpose was called for in our cooperation with friendly developing Latin American countries in their efforts to progress."

The $53,200,000 loan to Peru is being extended by the Export-Import Bank and the Development Loan Fund — both U.S. government agencies.

Eisenhower approved the loan after engaging in these other activities:

1. He motored 60 miles south of Denver Thursday morning for a 45-minute visit to the Fifth National Boy Scout Jamboree at Colorado Springs, Colo. An encampment of about 57,000 scouts from all sections of the country gave him a rousing welcome.

2. On return to Denver the President paid a call on his ailing mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud. Mrs. Eisenhower and her sister, Mrs. G. Gordon Moore of Washington, already were at the Doud home. The President, his wife and Mrs. Moore arrived in Denver from Chicago Wednesday.

The President and the First Lady will conclude their Denver visit Saturday morning and fly back to Newport, R.I., to resume the vacation they interrupted to travel west. They expect to be back in Washington Aug. 8.

First Stage Trouble Halts Titan Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. — (UPI) — Trouble developed in the first stage of an advanced model Titan ICBM fired by the Air Force Thursday and the ocean-spanning missile fell far short of its target area.

The 98-foot rocket, a prototype of the operational Titan, was triggered at 5:38 p.m. e.d.t., and was aimed at a target in the south Atlantic, about 5,000 statute miles away.

The Air Force announced that preliminary data indicated a malfunction caused early shutdown of the first-stage engines.

"The missile landed east of Cape Canaveral," the announcement said. Exactly how far east was not revealed. Cause of the malfunction was not known.

Nine Killed When Truck Strikes Car

ODESSA, Tex. (AP)—Nine persons, seven of them children, perished Thursday when a big truck smashed into a passenger car on the outskirts of this far west Texas city.

Another child clung precariously to life. The child was the only survivor in the automobile.

Killed outright were Peggy Roberts and Bess Letterman, next-door neighbors in Odessa, and four girls and two boys. Another girl died at a hospital.

The dead children were Marice Lynn Roberts, 8, and six of the Letterman family — Davis, 16 months; Ramona, 3; Joy, 5; Johnny, 9; Mary, 10, and Susie, whose age was not immediately learned.

Mrs. Roberts' son, Tommy, 17 months old, was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

State police said preliminary investigation indicated the passenger automobile ran a stop sign.

Authorities said the truck apparently knocked the car into a shallow roadside ditch, and then smashed and rolled over it.

The truck, weighing an estimated 30 tons, is owned by the B. J. (Oil) Well Service Co.

Odessa authorities identified the truck driver as John Bostick. He stepped out of his truck, looked at the wreckage and collapsed.

Swims To Freedom

OSLO, Norway (AP) — A strong young swimmer from the Soviet armed forces has stroked his way safely across a 200-yard-wide stretch of the turbulent Pasvik river and asked for political asylum in Norway. Oslo newspapers reported Thursday. They said the youth, a soldier, crossed the frontier stream July 15.

Apollo, 2 Or 3-Man Space Craft, Planned By U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States plans to follow up its manned Mercury satellite with a two- or three-man space craft called Apollo.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Thursday Apollo craft may be used to "support a large space operation" or to accomplish a rendezvous in space with other craft.

It was learned also that the first Mercury manned test flight may not come until next year.

Apollo will be launched by a Saturn engine, the most powerful rocket now under development. Saturn, scheduled for operations in the period beyond 1963, will be capable of launching satellites weighing as much as 10 tons, or of landing large payloads on the moon or sending them to the vicinity of Mars and Venus.

Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, NASA deputy administrator, announced at a briefing of 1,300 NASA contractors that Apollo was one of several newly named NASA projects.

Later, at a National Rocket Club luncheon Dr. Homer Joe Stewart, NASA's director of program planning and evaluation, said the first suborbital manned flight, planned with a Mercury capsule launched by a Redstone rocket to an altitude of 125 miles, is still "technically possible by the end of this year."

"But the margin is getting a little small," he added.

It was the first official NASA acknowledgement that the Mercury astronauts now are unlikely to take their first rocket flights until after the first of the year.

Nation's Worst 'Copter Crash Probed; 13 Dead

CHICAGO (UPI)—Among white tombstones hung with charred debris, federal investigators Thursday sought evidence of structural defects in a helicopter that carried 13 persons to death Wednesday night.

Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) officials said preliminary evidence indicated defects in either the rotor mechanism or the tail section may have caused the nation's worst helicopter crash.

The tail section of the big Sikorsky S-58, a commercial version of the same craft President Eisenhower uses, was found 300 yards from the suburban Maywood Cemetery into which it plunged and burned.

A rotor blade was found in a tree about three quarters of a mile south of the crash site.

Authorities said the tail appeared to have sheared off the craft before it suddenly dropped straight down from a height of about 500 feet, lopped off the top of a tree and knocked over two gravestones.

The craft, carrying a pilot, co-pilot and 11 passengers, was on its seventh trip of the day, shuttling between two of the world's busiest airports, Midway and O'Hare fields, 18 miles apart across Chicago.

State police said preliminary investigation indicated the passenger automobile ran a stop sign.

Authorities said the truck apparently knocked the car into a shallow roadside ditch, and then smashed and rolled over it.

The truck, weighing an estimated 30 tons, is owned by the B. J. (Oil) Well Service Co.

Odessa authorities identified the truck driver as John Bostick. He stepped out of his truck, looked at the wreckage and collapsed.

Won't Try To Outpledge Opponents

Nominee Promises Campaign Without Letup Until Nov. 8

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—Richard M. Nixon accepted the Republican presidential nomination Thursday night with a promise to cheering GOP hosts that he will wage "a campaign such as this country has never seen before."

The 47-year-old nominee declared the campaign "begins here and now tonight," and will continue until election day and will take him into every one of the 50 states.

Lashing at the Democratic foes he and the vice-presidential nominee, Henry Cabot Lodge, will face, Nixon called the opposition party's platform a cynical document.

"They promised everything to everybody with one exception—they didn't promise to pay the bills."

Nixon called the GOP platform one that could be attained. "We're not going to try to buy the people's votes with their own money," he declared.

Nixon got a great cheer from his partisans by tearing into Democratic criticisms of the present administration—the argument that America had been permitted to grow weaker in relation to the Soviet Union.

"I say that a time when the Communists are running us down abroad it is a time to speak up for America at home," Nixon said.

Speaks From Notes

The nominee, speaking from notes in relaxed manner, began the big speech of his life with tributes to the officers of the convention—to delegates themselves.

He told the delegates their conduct had lifted this convention far above that of the Democrats two weeks ago in Los Angeles.

Nixon put in a plug for everybody, including Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The differences in the Republican party, he said, are nothing as compared with the differences among the Democrats.

Nixon praised the platform and the way it was presented to the convention.

Nixon said Rep. Walter H. Judd of Minnesota had given one of the most outstanding keynote addresses in either party's history.

And night before last he said, "Our fighting President made the greatest speech I have ever heard him make, before this convention."

He said he wanted particularly to thank the convention for nominating as his running mate "a world statesman of the first rank"—U.N. Ambassador Lodge.

Nixon said the problems that face the next president will be greater than those that faced Abraham Lincoln, who was nominated in Chicago just 100 years ago.

Then, he said, it was the division of the nation. Now, he said, it's freedom throughout the world.

Nixon said of the Democrats in Los Angeles: "We are not going to try to outpromise our opponents in this campaign," and the crowd roared.

Has Faith In People

To those who say this position means political defeat, Nixon said his answer is that he has more faith in the people's judgement.

"We will bring the facts home to the American people and we will do it with a campaign such as this country has never seen before."

That brought a big roar from the crowd.

Nixon said he has been asked when is the campaign to begin. "I say this campaign is beginning now," he replied. "It will continue from now until Nov. 8 without letup."

He said he would take no states for granted, and he wouldn't concede any states to the opposition.

"I personally will carry this campaign into every one of the 50 states of this nation," Nixon pledged.

Nixon predicted that millions of Democrats will join the Republicans, not because they are deserting their party but because, he said, their party deserted them.

The Republicans offer, he said, the record of the best eight-year administration the country has seen.

But a record, he said, "is not something to stand on but to build on."

And, he added, "We shall build a better America."

Nixon Adept At Making Minus Plus

Editor's Note — With the prelude now Vice President Nixon now heads for the grand battle of his career. What are his assets and liabilities, both personal and political? Here's the first of two articles on the Republican presidential nominee by a reporter who has closely followed his activities.

By ARTHUR EDSON

CHICAGO (AP)—Whenever distressing news reaches Richard M. Nixon, he may look it over carefully, acknowledge its gloomy character, and then thoughtfully say something like this:

"It's too early to say if this is a plus or a minus."

Although he never intended it this way, it may be a tipoff on his amazing career.

No other public man has been able to take a minus and change it to a plus as successfully as Richard Milhous Nixon.

His nomination for president by the Republicans here Wednesday night illustrates this point perfectly.

Not since the earliest days of the republic has the vice presidency been looked upon as anything but a one-way ticket to political oblivion. Only the death of a president could save him from complete obscurity.

Yet Nixon was able to smash this tradition so irrevocably that he had the delegates roped and branded before they ever assembled.

Altogether, it was a great tribute to the careful planning and constant work of Richard Nixon. Except for Harry S. Truman, no other politician seems able to create as many blistering animosities. Some high-ranking Democrats are so anti-Nixon they hate to appear on a platform with him even on routine occasions.

Although Nixon, especially in his past, has been able to stir up tremendous hates, even his best friends will agree he doesn't create tremendous enthusiasms.

The reason lies deep in the man himself.

Basically, Nixon is extremely shy.

Although he does a good job at shaking hands, at throwing in the thoughtful word to show he's alert to what's being said, he doesn't act like a man who thinks this is the pleasantest way to spend an evening.

Nor is he especially moving on the platform, even though he usually attracts excellent crowds.

His speeches may be well reasoned out (as political speeches go). They may delight the faithful and worry the foe. But they're not the type to send men roaring down the aisles, ready to hoist him on their shoulders.

Yet plenty of politicians who are warm human beings, who have a platform manner that can send their listeners into ecstasies, are sitting alone today, passed over by their parties when the nominations were being made.

And here's Nixon, winning the nomination handily at the age of 47, poised for what could be a fierce and memorable campaign against his Democratic foe, Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Nixon won because long ago he knew where he wanted to go, charted a course that would get him there, and then persistently followed it.

Kennedy, also a cool calculator, took the spectacular but far more risky road to the nomination, the presidential primaries. One serious misstep there and it would have been all over for him.

Nixon took the slower, safer way. Wherever he traveled he talked with state leaders, with county chairmen. Steadily they were won over.

Few people plan ahead like Nixon.

If possible, each speech, including those that appear to be off-the-cuff, is carefully worked out. Each move is carefully premeditated.

I travelled with Nixon last winter. Even then, when the Rockefeller excitement was at its highest, he was musing over details of this fall's presidential campaign.

I was with Nixon again this spring. Already he was working on ways to break down the issues in his major speeches.

His homework is prodigious, and he likes to show it off.

At Lawrence College, in Wisconsin, Nixon was asked if he favored letting Red China into the United Nations.

No, Nixon said, he didn't.

And he embarked on a long speech that went into everything from the U.N. Charter to the precise percentage of Chinese who have emigrated into neighboring Asian countries. Rarely has the problem been more fully covered.

Russia Expels Three U.S., Two Other Students

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet police Thursday arrested five Western students, including three Americans, and ordered them expelled from the country for distributing an American magazine to a street corner crowd that was grabbing for copies.

A sixth student involved fled as police approached. The five arrested for passing out the official Russian-language publication "Amerika" included a Briton and a West German. One of the Americans was a girl.

The police accused all five of disturbing the peace by distributing literature. The students refused to sign the charge sheet.

It was the students' second brush with Soviet police. A few days ago while driving between Leningrad and Moscow they took a wrong turn and said they were lost.

Police accused them of venturing into a forbidden zone and photographing military objects. The students explained that they were lost but signed a statement listing the police charges. They were released and continued to Moscow, only to run afoul of the blue-uniformed Moscow police.

The police held them briefly and then released them with an order to get out of Russia by noon, Saturday. After contacting their embassies, the students went to the Soviet "In tourist" office to arrange to leave. They had been touring in a small car and said they wanted to visit Communist Romania.

The students refused to identify themselves and the U.S. Embassy, which sent aide Richard Snyder to the police station, said it would not divulge their names.

Police warned that if they remained in Russia beyond the Saturday deadline, they would be arrested again.

The magazine, "Amerika," is printed in the United States and 50,000 copies are distributed within the Soviet borders under a cultural agreement. In return, Russia distributes an English language magazine, "Soviet Union," in the United States. "Amerika" has U.S. government backing and is designed to give an unbiased view of life in the United States.

Waynesburg Rain Day Finds Few Betting It Won't

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (UPI)—Residents of this rural southwestern Pennsylvania community were hunting last minute bets that rain will fall in town before 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

Takers were few because records show that it has rained here every July 29 in the past 84 years except for nine dry "rain days." Backers of the rain tradition will tell you that on several of the exceptional years the rain only missed by a few minutes or hours.

The town's rain day tradition dates back to a sweltering July 29, 1875. Bill Allison remarked to a farmer who stopped in the drug store where he clerked that the day "sure is a scorcher."

"Funny thing," the farmer replied, "but it will rain before midnight. Always does here on July 29."

When rain fell later in the day, Allison noted it in the store day book. Each year, as long as he lived, his notation on July 29 was always the same—rain.

Nixon Beat Astronomical Odds To Win Republican Nomination

By ARTHUR EDSON

CHICAGO (AP)—So you sit there, watching Richard M. Nixon in his hour of glory, and you try to figure the odds he had to beat to become the Republicans' choice for president.

Finally you give it up. About the best you can do is to say they are so astronomical it would take an electronic brain to compute them.

The earliest memory of Dick Nixon is as an eager young congressman from California, earnest, determined.

But the congressional woods are full of eager, earnest, determined young men.

If they hang around the House long enough they become eager old men or maybe jaded old men, with a powerful hand in shaping legislation that comes before their committees.

In his early days Nixon was almost completely identified with the House Committee on Un-American Activities Committee.

That's an easy way to get quick recognition, but it's not necessarily the best way. For some reason, investigators often fade as quickly as they shoot into prominence.

A picture taken of Nixon at that time comes to mind.

He was wearing a dark suit, a broad-brimmed hat pulled well down on his forehead. You could be excused for not spotting him then as sure-fire presidential ammunition, just as you could be excused for not spotting the man who will be his Democratic opponent.

At that time Rep. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts looked like a tousled young man who hoped to make good as a YMCA camp counselor.

But Dick Nixon was to escape both from the long House grind and the label that he was strictly a spy hunter.

There he was in the Senate, a much easier place to shine, but filled with prejudices about pushy young newcomers.

Then eight years ago, it happened. Dwight D. Eisenhower picked Richard M. Nixon for his running mate.

He was a lot closer to the White House, but even then the odds were long against him. His one chance, it seemed, would be the death of the President, since vice presidents, it was thought, never make it on their own.

We've all written a lot about how hard work and careful planning helped Nixon change all this. Which is true.

But anyone who gets as far as

Maryland Delegates Swing Behind Lodge

CHICAGO (AP)—Maryland delegates to the Republican convention Thursday swung behind presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon's choice of U. N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as his running mate.

The delegation previously had favored Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky in a straw vote on the GOP vice presidential candidate. Morton had developed backing within the group, and sentiment for him was increased by the presence of his brother, Rogers C. B. Morton of Talbot County, in Maryland's delegation.

Rogers Morton, a cattleman and director of two large corporations, is an alternate delegate.

"Self-Lighting" Cigaret Slated

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Smokers who invariably find themselves without a match won't have to worry about it any more if they're willing to switch brands.

Continental Tobacco Co. Inc., Huntington, headed by a non-smoker, Nicholas Tweel, has been working on just such a problem for about three years.

As a result, the firm hopes to start production by Dec. 1 of a "self-lighting" cigarette, the first in the country and only the second in the world.

A company spokesman said the Continental cigarette will be much different than the Decca put out by a firm in Switzerland.

The Decca, the spokesman says, has a sulphur spot on its end, making it light up pretty much like a match. Consequently, he says, it tastes like one, too.

In contrast, the business end of the Continental cigarette will be "tasteless and harmless," the spokesman said. "Even a blind man will be able to light it."

The end of the Continental cigarette will be covered by a white chemical which will cause the tobacco to burn when it comes in contact with the side of the package impregnated with a nother chemical.

Cuban Flies Airliner To U.S., Asks Asylum

MIAMI (UPI)—The captain of a Cubana Airlines passenger plane held other members of his crew and a guard at gunpoint Thursday while he flew the craft to Miami to seek political asylum in the United States.

Six of the eight passengers aboard joined Capt. Eduardo Ferrer in requesting admission to the United States.

The plane, a DC-3, took off from Havana at 7:15 a.m. e.d.t. Thursday on a flight to Oriente, Cuba, with intermediate stops at Varadero, Santa Clara and Camaguey. It carried Ferrer, a co-pilot, a purser, an armed Cuban army guard and eight passengers.

Wartime Director Of AF Training Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brig Gen. William W. Welch, 66, who was wartime director of Air Force pilot training in the United States, died Thursday of a heart ailment.

Welch was assistant to the president of Fairchild Engine and Airplane Corp., Hagerstown, Md. He had been with Fairchild since shortly after his retirement from the Air Force in 1946.

A native of Alma, Colo., Welch learned to fly in 1917. During World War II he served as assistant chief of staff and later as chief of staff to the Air Training Command. From 1944 until 1946 he was deputy director of training at Air Force headquarters here in direct charge of the training of all pilots.

He also served, by appointment from Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, on a committee which selected the flying schools that provided pilot flight training under Air Force contract.

presidential nominee Nixon, had given the final nod to Lodge as a running mate and thus tied the Republican campaign to the crucial foreign policy issue.

And there was a possibility that Nixon would try to undercut Democratic plans to kick off the campaign in Hawaii by getting there first.

Kennedy has announced that his New Frontiers campaign will get under way in Hawaii about Sept. 1.

Nixon told Hawaiian GOP delegates here Wednesday that he would have more to say about Hawaii in the next two days. They took that as a hint he would be flying to the islands.

And reports were getting around Thursday that Nixon might undertake some sort of Western trip next week.

Sen. Butler Defends Early Departure From Convention, Criticizes McKeldin

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. John M. Nixon as the Republican presidential candidate, said Thursday his early departure from the Republican National Convention would not hurt the GOP campaign unless "it's magnified out of all proportion."

And, he told reporters, if former Gov. Theodore McKeldin "would keep his mouth shut everyone would get along better."

Butler left the GOP conclave at Chicago, where he was a delegate and member of the platform committee, before the convention right to defend his position in a nominated Vice President Richard private caucus," Butler said.

don't think the press should report what he says in a private caucus."

Augustus D. Knox, one of two Negro delegates from Maryland, said at Chicago that Butler "should have stayed and shouldered the responsibility given him when elected a delegate."

The party's civil rights planks in the platform were among those to which Sen. Butler expressed objections after his arrival here. Other planks which drew his objections included immigration and federal aid to education.

Butler said he didn't believe McKeldin's comments had helped the party, particularly in view of the senator's contention he had business commitments in advance of the convention which required him to leave Chicago before the nominating roll calls.

Blanchard Randall of Baltimore, an alternate at the convention, took Butler's place and helped cast the state's 24 nominating votes.

"It's ridiculous that a man can't do what he wants to do without being criticized," Butler said.

'Foot Dragging' In State Loan Agency Hinted

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Economic Development Commission Thursday expressed fears of "foot dragging" in the Development Credit Corp. and urged that the companion agency get into operation as soon as possible.

The development commission has been supporting the state loan agency on a temporary basis until its private stocks and bonds were sold, but has no funds allotted for it in the current budget.

The credit corporation was created by the 1959 Legislature to make loans to new businesses and industries which might have difficulty getting money through regular banking channels. It is to be self-supporting.

The executive director, Allen P. Hobbittell, has been on the payroll of the Economic Development Commission since last February, when the development commission began setting up its new department in the State Office Building here.

Economic development Director George W. Hubley Jr. reported to the commission Thursday that the department has already spent $11,722 on the credit corporation and that $1,591 has been requested this month to continue the staff.

It was expected that the agency would be in operation earlier this year, but clearance from the Securities Exchange Commission to sell stocks and bonds became final only about a month ago, the commission was told.

There was no indication when the loan firm expects to begin independent operations.

Frostburg Motel, Scenery Praised By Columnist

Western Maryland scenery and hospitality were praised by Eleanor Arnette Nash in her column, "Modern Women," which appeared in the Baltimore Evening Sun. Miss Nash, besides her column, also has a TV program. She was one of the guests at the Maryland and Congress, Parent-Teacher Association convention held recently in Frostburg.

In her column, she mentioned that it had been 20 years since she had stayed in a motel, and the one experience was enough. Writing of her pleasant surprise with the motel, she stated that it was more comfortable than a number of hotels where she had stayed, and in fact was a miniature hotel with a personal touch by the owner, who carried her bags in himself, welcomed her to Frostburg, and offered to do anything to make her stay comfortable.

Miss Nash contrasted her visit with her former motel experience. It was in Maine "amid a cardboard atmosphere," the curtains failed to draw tightly across the small windows, and there was no bath. She "spent a miserable night."

Concluding her column, Miss Nash spoke of the beautiful view of Frostburg State Teachers College campus, and the mist hanging over the mountains and hills so that she "clicked her mental camera" to keep it.

Cave-Kave Clan Plans Reunion

The descendants of the late Isaac Cave of Luray, Va., held a picnic lunch at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Guy D. Kave, Largent, W.Va.

Isaac Cave was a blacksmith and was brought to Cumberland to make the chisels to cut the stones for First Presbyterian Church on Washington Street. While here he lived on Emily Street. During the Civil War he was commissioned to do the blacksmith work for the Confederate Army at Luray. He was the father of 13 children.

It was decided to hold the next reunion at the home of Ray Painter in Luray, Va., on July 16, 1961. Before that time Leo Cave, general chairman, is to mail invitations in the form of a map to all members of the clan.

Swimming and horseshoe pitching featured the entertainment. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford Kave, Shirley Joyce and Gregory Ford, Mr. and Mrs. James Frive, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kave, Mrs. Myrtle Kave, of Berkeley Springs, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Cave, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kave, of Luke; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Painter, Samuel Stepp of Luray; Mrs. Helen Emmart, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Reckley, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold R. Davis, Bette Ray Shipley, Richard, Samuel and

Homemaker Program Planning Meetings Set

A series of meetings for program planning for 1961 have been scheduled by Miss Mary Wise, home demonstration agent.

They all will be held in her office at the court house, and are for county and club chairmen of each project area.

August 10 the "Family Life" programs will be discussed at 10 a. m. "Home Management" will be the topic for the session beginning at 1:30.

August 11 "Home Furnishing" will be the subject for the 10 a. m. meeting, and at 1:30 all cultural chairmen are to meet. The cultural projects include art, home and yard beautification, international relations, music, reading, recreation and nature.

Miss Wise stresses the fact that it is important for all clubs to be represented, in order to present their ideas and have the program developed to meet their needs. Miss Wise will conduct the meetings and schedule requests for help from University of Maryland specialists.

Stella Shipley, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne A. Couter, Paula Elaine Couter, of Cumberland.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rankin, of Wheaton; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse M. Kave, LaVale; Mrs. Wanda Ball, Patrick and Michael Ball of Danville, Va.; Mrs. Mabel Bloom, Mrs. Bertha Malcolm, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Postelle, Mrs. May Alderton, Paw Paw, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cave, Longacres; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Moreland, Kearneysville, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lloyd, Robert Lee Lloyd, Lansdowne; Robert Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Oates, Beth and Michael Oates, Romney, W. Va.; Mrs. Mable Michael, and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bucy, Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard E. Couter, Cumberland; Elliot Pyles Jr. and son William of South Bend, Indiana, were guests of the reunion.

Demonstration Discussed

The demonstration to be given by the Bowling Green Homemakers Club at the Cumberland fair was discussed at the meeting earlier in the week, which was held in the form of a covered dish luncheon at Circle Inn. The demonstration will be given August 18 from 7 until 9 p. m., and will be on "Ironing a Shirt."

Mrs. Lakin Root, hostess, conducted the business session. The collect was read and Mrs. Glenn Johnson gave the history of the hymn of the month. An invitation from North Cumberland Club was read. It was announced that the next meeting will be in September at St. Matthew's United Church of Christ. The meeting closed with the group singing "Dixie."

Guild Will Hold Dinner Tuesday

PIEDMONT — The Wesleyan Service Guild of Trinity Methodist Church will hold its 1960 annual dinner on Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at Penn Alps near Grantsville. Miss Katherine Crawford, president, announces.

Mrs. Dorothy Kight is in charge of the program to be presented after the dinner. A short business meeting will also be held.

Woman To Woman Vatican Garden Galley Fountain Is In Drydock

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK
NEW YORK (UPI)—We women are invited to stop inflation from gobbling our dollars.

The invitation—or challenge—comes from Mrs. Nancy B. Staub, New Jersey banker and chairman of the National Association of Bank Women's newly formed committee for economic growth without inflation.

The veteran of 35 years in banking said in an interview that inflation won't be curbed until the nation's homemakers accept this fact—skillful shopping holds down rising costs.

"The lady of the house has a big stake in the fight against inflation," Mrs. Staub said.

"It is she who must stretch the family paycheck to keep pace with living costs as they go up. Bank surveys show it is the housewife who handles the finances in 80 per cent of the families today."

She said today's dollar is worth about half its 1940 value. Said another way—a family earning $5,000 a year in 1940 must now bring in about $12,113 to break even in terms of today's buying power.

To illustrate the point, Mrs. Staub cited the following example: A married man with two children earning $5,000 a year in 1940 paid $59 in Social Security and federal income taxes. He netted $4,941. To bring home that amount today, the man must first pay Uncle Sam $1,816 in taxes and then forfeit $5,356 in buying power lost to inflation.

"That's more than his total income in 1940," Mrs. Staub said. "No wonder many people say inflation is the cruelest tax of all."

"Worse yet, inflation makes it more and more difficult to plan your future safely," Mrs. Staub said. She knows. As trust officer for the Morris County Trust Co. in Morristown, she spends her working days planning the estates for customers with a nest egg.

"Dollars painfully saved today may be worth only a fraction of their present value a few years hence—unless inflation is controlled," she said.

"Thus, if you base your retirement plans on a fixed income from insurance, a fixed pension plan or even Social Security, you may find yourself hard put to make ends meet when the time arrives to take it easy."

Good money management plus skillful shopping are potent weapons in the battle, Mrs. Staub said.

Mid-July New Car Sales Show Increase

DETROIT (UPI)—Mid-July sales of new cars climbed 13.7 per cent above the similar figure for the first 10 days of the month, Ward's Automotive reports said Wednesday.

The statistical agency said new cars sold at a daily rate of 17,485 during the middle 10 days of the month, compared with a daily rate of 15,376 during the first 10 days.

Total sales from July 11 through July 20 were 157,369 domestic made cars, Ward's said, with compacts accounting for 41,152 or 26.1 per cent of the sales.

The mid-July sales left dealers with 1,063,900 cars available for sale, compared with 1,056,600 on hand in dealer showrooms on July 10, Ward's said.

Twentieth Century Spain ranks the Alhambra, 14th Century fortress-palace in Granada, as one of its rarest national treasures. Yet England's Duke of Wellington once declined the Alhambra as a gift, considering it impractical.

Ten inches of snow is equal to about one inch of rain in its water content.

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The three-masted galley which has been anchored in the Vatican Gardens for almost 350 years is in drydock.

Its sails are furled, its bilge-pumps dry, its bronze cannon silent. Land-bound shipwrights go about their work on scaffolding surrounding its bulging hull, its towering poop deck.

When Pope John XXII takes his afternoon walk, usually between 6 and 7 in the cooler evening of the hot Roman summer, he can hear the hammers of workmen around the galley.

After the ancient ship's refitting is completed, however, she will not weigh anchor.

The galley is a fountain. The "Fountain of the Galley," a realistic replica of bronze and lead, is being overhauled by Vatican workmen to bring it near the masterpiece it was when architect Carlo Maderno built it in 1614.

Pope Paul V. ordered the fountain designed as part of the Vatican Gardens. It stands as it did then, in a large pool at the foot of the Bramante Stairs to the garden.

Standing by the fountain, one can get a magnificent view of Rome out past St. Peter's.

The galley itself is as large as a small fishing dory. A man has to stretch to reach the top of its masts if standing at deck level, where scaffolding has been built for the refitting. The masts carry furled sails of hammered lead. The mainmast is topped by a bronze pennant of Pope Pius XI, who last renovated the fountain in 1936.

The upper works are rich in detail, with the lines and tackles of the running gear and the standing rigging fashioned in wire and soft metal.

The hull itself, with its high poop deck and fo'c'sle, is of finely worked bronze. It bears the coat of arms of Pius VI, who refitted the galley during his reign in the 18th Century.

The Roman toga was a large, single piece of cloth shaped in a semi-circle.

Excavators Of Old Rifle Factory Hope To Continue

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. — Larrabee still has high hopes of (UPI) — A bearded archeologist uncovering some of the 19th century machine parts from the Factory at the National Monument here.

Ed Larrabee and assistant Bill Hershey believe they uncovered the cornerstones of all but three structures in their work this summer which ended July 10.

"Surprisingly few artifacts were uncovered in the preliminary dig," Larrabee said. "This is evidence of the thoroughness of the Confederate troops who removed the valued arms-producing machinery to Fayetteville, N. C., before they burned the buildings."

Major Planks Of Republican And Democratic Platforms Compared

By OVID A. MARTIN
CHICAGO (AP) — Here's how the major planks of the Republican and Democratic platforms compare:

Foreign Policy

Republicans—Promised a vigorous, resolute foreign policy—inflexible against every tyrannical encroachment, and mighty in its advance toward our affirmative goals. Those goals include security of the nation, fortification of the Western Hemisphere. Opposed recognition of Red China and its entry into the U.N.

Democratic—Declared party objective is not the right to coexist in armed camps with totalitarian ideologies, but creation of enduring peace in which the universal values of human dignity, truth, and justice under law are finally secured for all men everywhere. To achieve this will require restoration of national strength—military, political, economic and moral. Promised diplomats who will create new image of the United States.

National Defense

Republicans—Claimed U.S. military strength is second to none. Pledged intensified and courageous efforts to keep the nation ahead in light of swift technological change and warning signs of Soviet aggressiveness. This would include development and production of new strategic weapons such as the Polaris submarine and ballistic missile and long-range missiles. Party would provide any necessary increased expenditures to meet new defense situation.

Democratic—Pledged recasting of nation's military capacity to provide forces and weapons of a prevail now. production payments, price support loans and purchases. Would also expand farm markets by enlarging food-for-peace programs, creation of strategic reserves at home and abroad and establishment of food stamp plan to help needy at home. Claimed GOP policies have forced big decline in farm income.

Agriculture

Republican—Would build farm program around giant land retirement program designed to end overproduction and to raise farm prices at the market place. Would use price supports to widen markets, ease production controls and help achieve increased farm family income. Would expand movement of food abroad under food for peace program and create strategic food reserves for possible national emergency.

Democratic—Promised to work for full parity of income for farmers through use of production controls, higher price supports than repeal of antilabor excesses said and states have borne as much as have been written into labor of the cost of education as they laws. Claimed Republican Taft-Hartley labor law has weakened unions in efforts to take in organized workers. Promised repeal of authorization for "right-to-work" laws, limitations on the right to strike and to picket peacefully. Would raise minimum wage from present $1 an hour to $1.25 and extend coverage.

Labor

Republican — Promised to continue Eisenhower administration policies aimed at fostering, promoting and improving welfare of labor. Pledged effort to increase federal minimum wage rate and help to pay teacher salaries. Declared primary responsibility for education rests on local communities and states. Held broadened federal assistance would threaten local control.

Democratic—Pledged full support for collective bargaining and support for labor unions. Said local communities and states have borne as much as have been written into labor of the cost of education as they laws. Claimed Republican Taft-Hartley labor law has weakened unions in efforts to take in organized workers. Promised repeal of authorization for "right-to-work" laws, limitations on the right to strike and to picket peacefully. Would raise minimum wage from present $1 an hour to $1.25 and extend coverage.

Education

Republican — Promised federal aid in construction of school buildings but rejected proposals for help finance state programs. Declared primary responsibility for education rests on local communities and states. Held broadened federal assistance would threaten local control.

Democratic—Asserted GOP neglect of educational needs and pledged federal assistance in building classrooms and in paying teachers. Said local communities and states have borne as much as have been written into labor of the cost of education as they laws. Claimed Republican Taft-Hartley labor law has weakened unions in efforts to take in organized workers. Promised repeal of authorization for "right-to-work" laws, limitations on the right to strike and to picket peacefully. Would raise minimum wage from present $1 an hour to $1.25 and extend coverage.

Medical Care For Aged

Republican—Promised program that would provide elderly persons with a sound fiscal basis for health care. Aged persons would have option of carrying private health insurance. For the aged unable to pay, federal government would make grants to help finance state programs.

power, resources and leadership of the federal government to eliminate discrimination in voting, employment, schools, housing and public facilities, based on race, color, religion or national origin.

Rejected proposals that schools be given three years to lay down desegregation plans. Reaffirmed and through a contributory system, protection against burden of some costs of health care. Aged persons would have option of carrying private health insurance. For the aged unable to pay, federal government would make grants to help finance state programs.

Democratic — Pledged medical care benefits for the aged financed under the Social Security system. Rejected any proposals which would require the aged to submit to a means test to determine eligibility for federal aid.

Democratic — Also pledged full use of federal powers and leadership to end discrimination in voting, housing, schools, employment and transportation. Would give schools three years to lay down plans for starting desegregation and establish a Federal Employment Practices Commission to select racial equality for employment. Declared peaceful demonstrations for civil rights are a signal for nation to make good in this field.

100-Foot High Statue Of Christ Planned

By HEDRICK SMITH
United Press International
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Wind your way through the Smoky Mountains into Gatlinburg, Tenn., in two years and you'll probably catch sight of one of the world's largest statues of Christ — 100 feet high.

Unruffled by a volley of criticism, a young Nashville entrepreneur is moving steadily toward his dream of building the record-breaking statue to be cast in gleaming, modern aluminum. Ronald Ligon, 23, an every-Sunday church-goer, envisions the Christ as a religious tribute. He wants people driving through the mountains to see it in the distance and get a "good spiritual feeling." But he makes no secret that Christ Biblical Gardens — with the statue as centerpiece — will be run for profit. Opinion is divided on the project. Some local garden clubs and residents have opposed it. They claim Ligon is trying to cash in on Gatlinburg's heavy tourist trade—better than four million visitors in 1959.

The Knoxville, Tenn., News-Sentinel denounced the scheme as a "piece of gross commercialism of religion and of holy image, wholly out of character with the Gatlinburg setting."

Across Tennessee at Memphis, the Press-Scimitar commented bluntly, "This project should be killed and that right early!" But Ligon, tall, dark-haired, confident and smiling, bubbles with enthusiasm for the project. "If the different artists can do what I have in mind," he said, "people who have any opposition to it will have a change of heart when they see it."

"We're going to no end to get the very best. This won't be any cheap carnival type thing. It'll be a million dollar project before it's through."

Ligon has commissioned art Prof. Julian Hoke Harris of Georgia Tech to design the statue. Ligon rates Harris tops in the Southeast, one of the top 10 in the country.

The Christ Biblican Gardens will consist of the statue, a head of Christ, a handwritten Bible, and a series of three-dimensional scenes of Christ's life complete with realistic life-size wax figures done by Gem Waxworks of London, (England).

Ligon was inspired to build the Gatlinburg Christ when he saw the giant Christ statues in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and in Lisbon, Portugal.

The Gatlinburg Christ will be done in aluminum.

The gardens, minus Christ, are scheduled to open Aug. 1. By then, Ligon hopes to have a three-foot model of the Christ statue. Actual construction will begin in early 1961 and will take two years or more.

Japan Expects Big Role In India Development

NEW DELHI — (UPI) — Japan has extended her cooperation in exploring for iron ore in Bihar, in developing fisheries and in organizing small industries.

In the past, Japanese aid to India has been almost completely in the form of yen credits. The most significant agreement to date, signed in 1958, provides India with a capital goods credit of 18 billion yen ($50 million) spread over a three-year period. Under the agreement, Japan has been supplying India railway equipment, hydro and thermal power generators, industrial machinery, ships and other goods. However, with a stepped up exchange of Indian and Japanese industrialists and economists, the two countries seem to be moving toward face-to-face cooperation.

The External Affairs Ministry noted in its last annual report: "During the year, our relations with Japan became closer and our contacts more numerous. There was a steady exchange of delegations in economic as well as cultural fields."

India has signed a treaty with Japan for the avoidance of double taxation. Japan has extended her cooperation in exploring for iron ore in Bihar, in developing fisheries and in organizing small industries.

A significant step toward Indo-Japanese collaboration came earlier this year when India signed an agreement with the Japanese Citizens' Watch Co. for manufacture in India of inexpensive wrist watches. The watch factory, to be set up with an investment of about $2 million, will start production in 1962.

According to this agreement, Japanese will train Indian personnel in watch-making. The annual output is expected to be 300,000 to 400,000 watches.

Another agreement signed with Japan's Shin Toy Factory will enable India to manufacture 5,000 clocks a month. Shin Toy will construct the plant in India and provide on-the-job training.

In a joint self-help program, India signed an agreement in March with a Japanese steel mission to supply 4 million tons of iron ore annually from 1966 from mines the central Indian iron project of Balladila. The agreement will last 15 years.

Japanese experts will help India expand the Balladila project which is presently in its initial stage. Japan has offered $21 million to develop the project. The money will mainly be used for purchase of mining machinery and equipment.

Japanese yen credits offered and accepted by India total roughly $35 million.

Russia Pours Oil Into Cuba

NEW YORK (UPI)—Soviet Russia is pouring crude oil supplies into Cuba at an impressive rate but shipments are not keeping pace with normal consumption requirements, business sources said Wednesday.

At least six Red-leased tankers delivered bulk cargoes to Cuban ports in the first four weeks of July but the barter shipments, aggregating some 600,000 barrels, represented less than half the daily requirements of the nation's industrial machine.

Cuba's normal oil consumption has averaged 60,000 to 65,000 barrels a day over the past two years of which less than 600 barrels is produced locally.

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — An air of skepticism prevails in Wall Street. The break in the prolonged stock market slide aroused a few hopes that brighter days are ahead but mainly the brokers seemed unconvinced.

Although saying "a loud, long sigh of relief echoed through the canyons of the financial district" Tuesday as the market made a turnaround, Bache & Co. found little encouragement in the overall pattern.

"No selling climax took place before the rebound, suggesting that the force of recent liquidation has not yet been completely spent," the brokerage firm said.

"Those who follow the Dow Jones industrial average on a point-and-figure basis will notice that on the two previous occasions when the industrial average reached the 596-600 zone, small but distinct bases were formed and subsequently extended on the upside. The upturn which developed yesterday, however, was a straight-line affair, allowing no opportunity for formation of any significant foundation."

Bache said that even if the improved tone should be maintained in the next few days, it doesn't see any substantial change in the pattern of the last seven weeks.

"There is no light-heartedness in Wall Street and technicians are blunt in forecasting considerably lower prices on the average if the trading pace doesn't quicken on the upside," reports Dow Jones financial news service.

It said that if the March and May lows of the industrial average are penetrated soon, particularly after failure of a rally to generate a following, brokers believe investor psychology would be seriously damaged.

"On the other hand," it added, "should the market draw away comfortably from critical downside resistance points and turn-over rise steadily in the process, brokers believe confidence would build rapidly and result in an advance which might stretch close to election."

Martin Gilbert of Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. felt that the interruption of the slump suggested a firmer tone for the immediate future.

He considered it significant that the turnaround "came from a most important resistance level which for the third time this year has held inviolate."

"This certainly is a sign that the constructive forces are able to hold the line at a critical point. The action is indeed heartening and seems to provide evidence that the balance of power again is swinging to the upside."

Housing Unit Headquarters Is Readied

The new headquarters building and maintenance shop and garage for the Cumberland Housing Authority is nearing completion.

Located at Jane Frazier Village, the first of Cumberland's three public housing projects, the new building costs approximately $48,000, according to James B. Raines, executive director of the authority.

The headquarters section will contain a board of directors room, office for Raines, an office for William M. Long, accountant for the authority; a general office, an interviewing room and lobby. The office section is 60 by 20 feet.

The maintenance shop and garage section is located in the rear of the main office building and is 60 by 28 feet. There are three full-time maintenance men employed by the Housing Authority to handle all repairs and other work needed to keep the buildings in good repair.

The staff in the administration building consists of Raines, Long and three office personnel.

Raines said the new building will provide much needed space and one unit of the Jane Frazier Village project which has been used for offices will be converted into a housing unit.

The administration of the three projects, Jane Frazier Village, Benjamin Banneker Homes on Frederick Street and yet uncompleted Fort Cumberland Homes on West Oldtown Road will be handled from the new headquarters.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—The most sought after and coveted musical of today, "Bye, Bye, Birdie," has been sold to Columbia for well over a million. Sam Briskin, who made the deal, credits Leo Jaffee, first vice president and treasurer of Columbia with bringing the deal to a head.

While there is no chance of filming "Bye, Bye, Birdie" before the fall of 1961, it is such a hit on Broadway, Briskin has signed Ed Padulla producer and is negotiating for Gower Champion, director of the stage play. He has also engaged Charles Strauss and Lee Adams, composers of the musical score to write additional tunes.

I happen to know that both U-I and 20th offered one million for the rights, so I assume in addition to the money, Columbia is offering a percentage.

The way Stanley Kramer has concentrated on "message" movies for years, it's almost a "stop the presses" flash that he has bought a comedy, "So Many Thieves." So high is Kramer on this hilarious story by William Rose (who wrote "Genevieve") that he will spend $6,000,000 on the picture—no laughing matter where cost is concerned, if you ask me.

Although Stanley is now in Cannes on a vacation, he met with author Rose's agent Sam Zimring from the William Morris office to close the deal. What's more—he'll shoot the whole $6,000,000 right here in Hollywood soon after the first of the year when "The Nuremberg Trials" will be completed.

There's nothing like keeping the talent in the family. Carroll Baker, who is making her first personal production, "Something Wild," for U.A. under the direction of her husband, Jack Garfin, has cast her sister Virginia as her movie rival. I must say Carroll has her courage, for kid sister Virginia is a tall, blue-eyed blonde who has already won 11 beauty contests.

She is a student of Lee Strasberg and received fine notices in the off-Broadway production of "The Waltz of the Toreadors." "Something Wild" will be filmed

Mexico Farms Road Bids Sought By SRC

For the second time this summer, the State Roads Commission will advertise for bids for the construction of 1.7 miles of the Mexico Farms Road.

John B. Funk, SRC chairman and director of highways, said bids will be accepted at the SRC office, 300 West Preston Street, Baltimore, until noon Tuesday, August 23.

All bids received earlier this month by the SRC on the initial advertising were rejected due to a technicality, John D. Bushby, district engineer for Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, explained.

When the original bids were opened the Cumberland Contracting Company had the apparent low bid with a figure of $146,952.68.

Others participating in the bidding were Hout Construction

Landscaping Project Slated For Armory

Orrie Sensabaugh, LaVale contractor, has been awarded the contract to seed, sod and place top soil at the new National Guard armory on Brown Avenue.

Sensabaugh was low bidder with $7,800 figure or the project designed by S. Russ Minter, Cumberland architect.

ON ABL TECHNICAL STAFF—David G. Dodge, left, and Eugene G. Crossland, both natives of Cumberland, have joined the technical force at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory. Dodge has been assigned to the Polaris project and Crossland to the quality control department. Dodge was born here and attended Everett High School and was graduated this year from Pennsylvania State University with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering. Crossland attended Allegany High School, Frostburg State Teachers College and was graduated from University of Maryland where he received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering. Dodge lives in LaVale and Crossland in Keyser.

Methodist Youth Plan Program

The coming year's program of the Cumberland Subdistrict of the Methodist Youth Fellowship was planned at a recent meeting at Union Grove Campground.

Robert Hinkle, president, said outside of the regular meetings, the MYF will sponsor a skating party and outings.

A pledge rally will be held Thursday, September 22, in First Methodist Church.

Council meetings will be held the second Monday of every month, beginning in September, and the fellowship sessions will be held the fourth Thursday of every month.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Louis L. Emerick, advisor.

Other officers chosen include David Crone, vice president; Helen Delauder, secretary; Cleo Jane Mowen, treasurer.

Program chairmen are: Christian faith, Carol Murray; witness, Judy Menges; out-reach chairman, Frank Nimon; citizenship, Judy Garland; fellowship, James Malone, and publicity, James Groves.

Contract Awarded For FSTC Lights

The Maryland Department of Public Improvements has awarded the Queen City Electric Company the contract for placing street lights on the campus of Frostburg State Teachers College. The local firm's bid was $1,665.

Missionary Will Conduct Services

Rev. Stanley Miltenberger, OFM, Cap., will officiate at both Masses this Sunday at St. Ambrose Catholic Church, Cresaptown, at the invitation of the pastor, Rev. Carol Warner, OFM, Cap.

Father Stanley, son of Mrs. Mary Miltenberger, RD 1, Ridgeley, has just returned from five years at the Capuchin mission in the Southern highlands of Papua, New Guinea.

He was interim pastor at St. Ambrose Church during the summer of 1947, before being assigned to the Capuchin missions in Puerto Rico.

Prison Term Is Imposed In Shooting Case

Charles L. Boden, 39-year-old resident of 412 Grand Avenue, was sentenced to concurrent terms of a year and 30 days in the House of Correction at a hearing yesterday before Magistrate Paul Barnett.

Boden was sentenced to a year on a charge of assault against City Police Officer John H. Stichter resulting from an incident last Friday when a shot was fired as Officer Stichter went to the Boden home to serve a warrant.

The 30 days sentence was assessed for an accompanying drunk and disorderly charge.

Testimony in the case began Wednesday but was postponed until yesterday, when Boden's wife, Mrs. Shirley Boden, failed to appear for the hearing.

Boden was represented by Attorney John M. Robb, who in his concluding argument said he felt the testimony failed to show any intent toward assault. The case, he stated, has been "blown up" from the influence of the press and television shows.

The case was prosecuted by Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney for Allegany County, who brought out that Boden had on a previous occasion verbally threatened "to get" both his wife and "the cops."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Day-long fragrance makes you fresh as a new-picked flower.

How Wise Are You To The Ways Of Perfume?

The woman with a way about her knows that the allure of any perfume lies in its wearing! She scorns the wasteful practice of boarding lovely and expensive scents as mere dressing-table decorations. With exquisite taste, she uses her perfume to give her pleasure and a subtle aura wherever she goes.

The perfume-conscious woman is never frustrated by a stubborn hard-to-open bottle. When a stopper is difficult to get out, first try this method of persuasion: Gently, but firmly, tap the stop-

Acting in my capacity as Auditor to the Board of Education of Allegany County, Maryland, I have audited, by tests and checks deemed adequate, and examined the Receipts and Disbursements of the General Account, including Capital Disbursements and Building Account, also Fort Hill Stadium and Beall Stadium Operations Accounts, and Maintenance Account. All Cash Balances on hand have been verified with depository statements.

I have also reviewed and examined reports of all subsidiary operations—viz: Cafeteria Account, Veterans' Training Account and Extra Curricular Account.

In my opinion the attached statements accurately set forth the Receipts and Disbursements of the several accounts and fairly present the results of operations of the Board of Education of Allegany County, Maryland, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1960.

Westernport Pony Taken To Va. Sale

A Westernport couple has a pony to sell and they are taking it more than 200 miles to Chincoteague Island, off Virginia's eastern shore for that purpose.

That's where the annual wild pony roundup is being held starting yesterday and these ponies are sold after they have been gathered. The Chincoteague Fire Company is sponsoring the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Marsh and Thomas Marsh, all of Westernport, left Wednesday night so they could be in on the opening of the "oldest wild show in the east" today. The event attracts tourists from all over the country.

The pony was transported from Allegany County to the picturesque Virginia island by truck. The Marsh couple has attended the wild pony roundup for the past five years.

An estimated 23,000 persons were on hand for the morning roundup of 185 ponies which were herded across the narrow channel from their year-around home on Assateague Island to Chincoteague.

Strong tides delayed for two and a half hours the swim across the channel, but it was accomplished with Chincoteague's volunteer firemen playing their once-a-year role as wild west cowboys.

Couple Separates

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—Singer Lillian Roth, who wrote the best-selling book about her own life "I'll Cry Tomorrow," has separated from her husband of 15 years, friends of the couple said Wednesday.

The friends of Miss Roth and Burt McGuire said the couple had a "family dispute" and Miss Roth flew to New York. Her attorney, Harold Simon, said no legal action has been taken by either Miss Roth or McGuire.

Born June 5, 1909, at Eckhart, he was a son of the late Burman and Mary Ann (Harris) Starkey. Besides his widow, Madeline (Brooks) Starkey, formerly of Barton, he is survived by three children, Richard J. Starkey, serving with the U. S. Army in Oklahoma, Harold and Audrey Starkey, both at home; three sisters, Mrs. Edith Kerr, Akron, Mrs. Oliver Johnson, Frostburg, and Mrs. Walter Harden, Home-wood Addition; three brothers, Albert, Robert and Lee Starkey, all of Akron, and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Maurice Starkey, city.

The body is at Hopkins Funeral Home, Elliott City, near Akron. Services and burial will be held Saturday in Akron.

Jones Falls Highway Contract Awarded

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission Thursday announced the award of a $3,247,921 contract for construction of part of the Jones Falls Expressway in Baltimore.

The job was given to the Case Construction Co. of Baltimore, lowest of nine bidders on the interstate highway project. Only three more projects remain to complete the expressway from downtown to the northern city line.

The SRC also announced the low bidders on two projects in Hagerstown and one in Montgomery County.

C. William Hetzer Inc. of Hagerstown submitted low bids on the two Hagerstown jobs — $290,914 for surfacing work on North South Boulevard and $231,832 for two bridges over the boulevard.

Princemont Construction Co. of Rockville submitted the low bid of $567,276 for work on Maryland 193 near Kensington.

One of the stone lions in front of the New York Public Library on Fifth avenue is beginning to crack up. Maybe it's more of a strain than we thought—just sitting there looking like a king-size bookend.

Grant County School Levy Plan Fails

PETERSBURG — The extra levy voted on Tuesday by citizens of Grant County in an effort to improve present minimum standards in the school system was narrowly defeated by the close margin of five percentage points in a turnout that is considered good for a special election.

The vote was considered encouraging since no political personalities were involved. A total of 855 votes were cast in favor of the proposal and 708 in opposition. A 60 per cent majority of vote cast in this type of election is necessary for passage.

Generally speaking, there was no organized opposition anticipated, although such opposition developed in some rural precincts.

The unofficial tabulation shows that the proposal carried in both Town of Petersburg precincts, but was defeated in South Petersburg.

In Union District, much support was manifest and the proposition carried in Mt. Storm east and west precincts and in Gorman and Bayard by large majorities.

Stuart Family Reunion Set For August 28

MIDLAND—The annual Stuart Family Reunion will be held in Midland on Sunday, August 28 in the Firemen's Hall, Railroad Street, beginning at 1 p. m. The Blair families will be hosts this year with James G. Blair, chairman.

The Stuart clan numbering over 500 are the descendants of the late Arthur and Mary Grey Stuart of Scotland, Elk Garden and Thomas, W. Va. They were the parents of 17 children, 11 daughters and six sons.

The reunion rotates each year between Thomas, W. Va., Midland and Cumberland. Last year the dinner reunion was held at Minke's Cottage Inn in Cumberland with the late Leo and Elizabeth Stuart Brown families as hosts. The Blair families are the descendants of the late John and Jennie Stuart Blair of Elk Garden, W. Va. and Midland. There are 70 members of the Blair clan.

Mrs. Mary Evelyn Stafford, Keyser, W. Va., is secretary of the annual reunion. Members of Myrtle Temple No. 2 Pythian Sisters will serve the dinner following worship service at Grace Methodist Church.

Cecil Thayer, Thomas, W. Va. who has been president of the clan will be unable to attend this year due to illness.

Mrs. Louise Ravenscroft and Mrs. Rosemary McMillan are co-chairman for the dinner. Reverend and Mrs. Clarence McClood and daughter Cheryl will attend with Reverend McClood giving the blessing.

Keyser Company Watchman Retires

KEYSER—William M. Everett has retired from Emerson-Pryne Company after three years service as relief janitor-watchman. This was announced by George R. Petras, manager of the local plant.

Everett, better known to his friends as Morgan, is a lifetime resident of the Purgittsville, W. Va. area. He plans to take life easy at home with his wife, Bertie, and to pursue his hobby as a gunsmith in a modified way.

During Everett's younger days, he was an ardent motorcycle enthusiast. He can cite numerous adventures and escapades he has had with the "cycles."

With 12 years experience of playing the bass fiddle for square dances in the area, he can still play a snappy tune. Everett also enjoys hunting and fishing and hopes to make up for lost time at these sports.

OES Chapter To Be Honored

Members of Martha Washington Chapter No. 10, Order of the Eastern Star, Lonaconing, will attend the Sunday morning worship service at Grace Methodist Church, Midland at 11 a. m. July 31. Reverend Clarence McClood, pastor, will deliver the sermon.

Board Head Seeks Area School Data

PARSONS—John R. Yeager, president of the Tucker County Board of Education over a period of several years, has collected numerous items of information concerning schools which have been in existence at one time in the county. The information collected lists 95 schools which were at one time in existence in the county that have been closed either because of a drop in enrollment or to accommodate their pupils in newer buildings.

Yeager's records are contained in metal filing boxes, indexed and labeled. In addition to giving the county a centralized source of information concerning schools of former years, these records have aided a number of Tucker county people in securing information necessary for obtaining their birth certificates.

The following is a list of the 95 schools that Yeager has been able to secure information on and the dates the schools were closed:

Black Fork District—Hendricks School and Hambleton School, closed in 1940; Moore, 1938; Salem, 1942; Collett, 1918; Rosenford, 1918; Phillips, 1913; Cokerly, 1908; Lane Rock, 1930; Otter Fork, 1936; Brooklyn Heights, 1908; Pleasant Run, 1910; Pleasant Mountain, 1908; Holly Meadows, 1940; Riverview, 1953; Old Parsons Street Building, 1939; Hulings, about 1893.

The Mackeyville School was closed by the Board of Education at its meeting July 6, 1959. As yet Yeager has obtained no information as to when the Schooner, Haddix and Lee Bohon 20 schools were closed.

Clover District—Brushy Fork, 1953; Godwin, 1935; Cross, 1949; Harper, 1953; Hobson, 1939; Wolfe, 1943; a new building was built in 1950 but the school was again closed in 1951 and Ewin, 1951. Information on the closing dates of the Texas, Mill Run, Clover Run, Nestor, Sugar Grove and Independent 8 schools is not available.

Davis District—William Avenue, 1887; Henry Avenue, 1903; Francis, 1916; Pendleton, 1896 and Davis Colored, 1935. The first school in Davis was the Williams Avenue School which was opened for the 1883-84 school term and had 15 students. Miss Alice Crabtree was the teacher.

Dry Fork District—Maple Grove, 1937; Cortland, 1935; Hart, 1944; Jennings, 1945; White, 1944; Shaffer Mountain, 1909; Flat Top, 1930; Mt. View, 1950; Buna, 1922; Jason Hartman, 1922; Moore Siding, 1920; Richard, 1910; Lanes-Gladwin, 1956; Johnson, July 6, 1959. Other schools in Dry Fork District—Old Gladwin, 1941; New District schools that have been closed include Sapling Ridge, Cascade, Scotts Siding, Laurel Siding, Board Top, Long Round Top, Green Grove, Old Wolford and Lobby.

Fairfax District—Bonbush, 1947; Pierce, 1953; Central, 1940; Coketon Colored, 1954; Fairfax, 1884 and Douglas, 1956. The first free school in Thomas was in 1836 and was held in two rented rooms. Other schools in this district that have been closed include South Coketon, West Coketon and William.

Licking District—Valley, 1949; Robinson Hill, 1920; Macedonia, 1943; Bull Run, 1953; Chestnut Grove, 1952 and Hannahsville, 1955. The Macedonia Church was used as a school until the Macedonia School was built in 1892.

St. George District—Canon, 1952; Hickory Grove, 1935; Close Mountain, 1942; Beckner, 1941; Mt. Oliver, 1944; Mt. Hope, 1943; Clay Lack, 1938; Mt. Prospect, 1942 and Horse Shoe, 1927.

Attorney Seeks Referendum On Liquor Sales

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — If a Wheeling attorney has anything to say about it, West Virginians will get a chance to vote on the sale of liquor by the drink.

But Chester Hubbard, Republican nominee for the House of Delegates, has been in that corner for years. Right now he is taking a poll of the 207 candidates for the Legislature, asking them if they favor a referendum on the issue.

Hubbard is one of the leading exponents of liquor - by - the drink in the Legislature although he had to sit out the last session after failing to get elected to the State Senate. Hubbard said "by far the majority" of 77 replies received to date favored a vote on the controversial issue.

He said he believes there is "a change of thinking with some members of the Legislature" who in the past have opposed liquor legislation.

Hubbard said the state could receive at least $6 million a year in new revenue by legalizing liquor by the drink "under strict licensing and regulations."

Controls To Delay SRC Federal Aid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — Despite an increase in federal allocations for road building in 1961, the State Road Commission said Thursday, West Virginia will not benefit immediately because of certain controls imposed by the Bureau of Public Roads.

The federal government earlier this week said West Virginia's apportionment of federal money would be $32.6 million, $2.2 million greater than the current fiscal year.

Road Commissioner, Pat Graney, however, said the so-called contract controls imposed by the bureau were not relaxed, cutting down the money that can actually be committed now.

Therefore, Graney said funds that would be immediately available total only $800,000 more than the current fiscal year.

He also said, because of a population decline, West Virginia will lose an undetermined amount of regular federal aid in future years.

Graney also said West Virginia has not received any money for construction of Interstate 77. He said West Virginia will not get any money for the highway until after the 1962 session of Congress when it considers a new cost study of the entire interstate system.

However, Graney said the Bureau of Public Roads would allow the SRC to use money allocated to other Interstate construction for use on the highway.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a fat uncle who is also the richest one in the whole family. He owns about half the cattle in Texas and then they had to go find oil on his grazing land.

This uncle came to visit us last week. I had just finished practicing the violin and although I know I should not have done it, I left the violin on a chair. Well, this big fat uncle sat right down on the violin and smashed it to pieces.

Instead of offering to buy me a new fiddle he said, "Violins don't belong on chairs." He also made a few mean cracks about the crashing sound scaring him. I think it was mighty cheap of him not to offer to buy me a new violin. He could get me a Stradivarius and never miss the money. Am I right?—FORMER FIDDLER.

DEAR FORMER FIDDLER: Violins don't belong on chairs. But people ought to exercise a reasonable amount of caution before sitting any place. There could be darned needles, crochet hooks, fly-paper, kittens or a baby brother on one of those chairs.

This column appears in many Texas cities. Let's hope your rich uncle isn't too cheap to buy a newspaper, and that he sees this letter and takes the hint.

P. S. It needn't be a Stradivarius. Unc—but get the kid at least as good a violin as you sat on.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My father was a rather famous band leader. I always had a yen for musicians.

At 18 I fell for a drummer. He was terribly handsome and I was a romantic nit-wit who thought I knew it all. My dad told me Teddy was n. g. but I wouldn't listen.

Well, to make a long story short I lost control of myself and wound up pregnant. When I told Teddy he said it was a tough break for ME and he had his career to think about. He skipped town and I was left to face the music—without my musician.

A wonderful fellow I used to go with heard about my trouble and begged me to marry him. He isn't much on looks, but he has wonderful character and he was crazy about me. We were married six months before the baby was born. He treats the boy as if it were his own.

Two years have passed and we are happy together although my life isn't exciting or romantic.

I got a phone call from my drummer-boy yesterday. He says he hasn't been able to get me out of his mind. He's coming to town in two weeks to play a job and wants to see me and his son. He says legally the boy is his, and I have no right to keep him away. I have no interest in seeing him but I want to know if he has a right to see his son? Please help me.—CLARISSA.

DEAR CLARISSA: If this heel has the nerve to call when he gets to town tell him to take his drum and beat it.

Biologically, he's the father but he has no legal rights. The man who married you is the boy's legal father.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son who is 18, and a high school senior, is going steady with a girl 16. She's as mature physically as a 20-year-old girl and years ahead of our son in ideas. To make matters worse, her parents are very lenient with her and the girl does as she pleases.

We would die if our son got into trouble. Keeping company with such a girl always triples the danger. What can we do?—P. D. Q.

Dear P. D. Q. You can't control someone else's daughter. These days you do well to control your own.

Don't be bashful about setting limits for your son and see to it that he obeys them. If he has had good moral upbringing and is armed with the facts, you needn't worry.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting—And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.) (Copyright, 1960, Field Enterprises, Inc.)

Area Gas Line Being Renewed

The C&A Gas Company is renewing its gas line in the Corriganville area, according to Carl C. Robbins, manager.

A new 12-inch pipeline is being laid. Right of way agreements have been filed at the Court House in connection with the work.

Those who signed the right of way papers were Robert N. Crouch, Ellerslie; Henry J. Getson, Corriganville; Oda W. Crosten, RD 1, city; Hugh A. Heming, RD 1, city; Clement J. Helmstetter, RD 1, city; Alice G. Graham, RD 1, city; Charles E. Wright, Cash Valley; Vera C. Graham, Cash Valley; Harry Naugle, RD 1, city and Pearl Albright, RD 1, city.

Entry Is Reported

City Police are investigating the breaking an' entering of Levitt's Tailor Shop on North Mechanic Street yesterday. The proprietor informed police approximately $12 in cash was taken from a desk drawer. Entry was made by forcing a rear window.

Former Resident Greets President

Samuel Witwer, a former resident of Cumberland and a graduate of Allegany High School, Class of 1926, was among those who greeted President Eisenhower at the airport in Chicago Tuesday.

Witwer, who is the GOP nominee for U. S. Senator from Illinois in the general election November 8, also greeted Vice President Nixon at the airport and introduced him to the group welcoming him to Chicago. Witwer is a Chicago attorney.

A rainfall of one inch over one acre of ground would mean a total of 6,272,640 cubic inches of water. This is equivalent of 3,630 cubic feet.

The Senate And The U.N. Charter

Fifteen years ago yesterday the Senate ratified a document that proposed perpetual peace in the world. It was a charter for the United Nations, and it passed, 89 to 2, without reservations or amendments.

The "nays" came from Sens. William Langer (R-ND) and Henrik Shipstead (R-Minn.). Langer told the Senate he had pledged to the fathers and mothers of North Dakota when he took office that he never would vote to send American boys "away to be slaughtered upon the battlefields of Europe," and that adoption of the Charter would mean "perpetuating war."

But the Senate seemed anxious to prove that America did not wish to resume the isolationism that had marked its pre-World War II course. Several speakers during the six days of debate recalled the demise of the League of Nations. The Senate had failed to give the two-thirds vote necessary for ratification in 1919 (39-55) and 1920 (49-35).

The almost unanimous vote of the Senate for the U.N. Charter was due in part to careful preparation by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and in part to the fact that the basic principles of the new world organization were in close accord with an earlier declaration of policy by Congress. The Senate also was soothed by the knowledge that the United States—along with the other great powers—was to have special veto privileges in the U.N. Security Council.

Much has happened in the last 15 years to dim the vision that propelled the Senate toward the historic vote. But the United Nations' timely interventions—in Korea, at Suez, and now in the Congo—have eased tensions that might have led to all-out war between the Communist and Western camps. Nuclear showdowns have been averted, albeit narrowly, and the Charter still may be said to represent the hopes, dreams, prayers and desires of most of the peoples of the world.

These Days

Negro Politics

Both conventions have witnessed splits over what is euphemistically referred to as "Civil Rights." Civil Rights are those laws which protect the individual in his rights under the Constitution of the United States and the constitutions of the various states. The amendments to the Constitution, particularly the first ten and the fourteenth, deal with such rights.

In many states, no issues arise under this heading. In others, where the population is very mixed racially, there are all sorts of discriminatory measures. The South has its Negro problem which in the South continues to be a serious matter. In some Northern states, such as New York, where there are large Negro and Puerto Rican populations, discrimination is severe. In New York, also, social and job discrimination on a religious basis presents a problem. In California, there is discrimination not only against Negroes but also against Mexicans. Some states have laws against what is termed miscegenation.

Jews and Negroes have organized defense media to protect themselves against those who, because of race, religion or color, regard them as secondary persons. In New York State and elsewhere, FEPC laws have been passed which forbid the rejection of persons for employment because of race, color or religion. On the other hand, in some states, such as Arkansas, for instance, a defensive effort has been made to attack the concept of enforced desegregation. The Ku Klux Klan and similar organizations organize to fight for white superiority.

The Supreme Court of the United States has intervened in this situation with decisions to the effect that a citizen is a citizen and is entitled to equal rights and benefits. These decisions forbid segregation as regards schools. This then is the situation as it affects both parties.

I have tried to write the above statement objectively as a conflict of ideas, unrelated to any selfish interests or motives on any side.

Now let us come to the politics of it. In such Northern states as New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania and there are others, the Negro vote is extremely important.

In New York and Illinois, prior to Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Negroes were usually Republicans because Lincoln freed the slaves. Since Roosevelt, the Negroes have been voting Democratic. The Democrats want to hold the Negro vote; the Republicans want to recapture it.

Others who regard themselves as minority groups generally support the Negro position because they feel that unless there is absolute equality for all citizens under the law, discriminatory actions may be taken against them with impunity.

This then is the problem that both parties faced in their 1960 conventions. The Democrats met it head on and wrote the toughest Civil Rights plank into their platform that has ever come out of a convention. This plank was resented by the Southern delegates, but they did not leave the Convention. When Lyndon Johnson accepted the Vice Presidency and ran on the platform, the Southerners felt that they had been betrayed by their party.

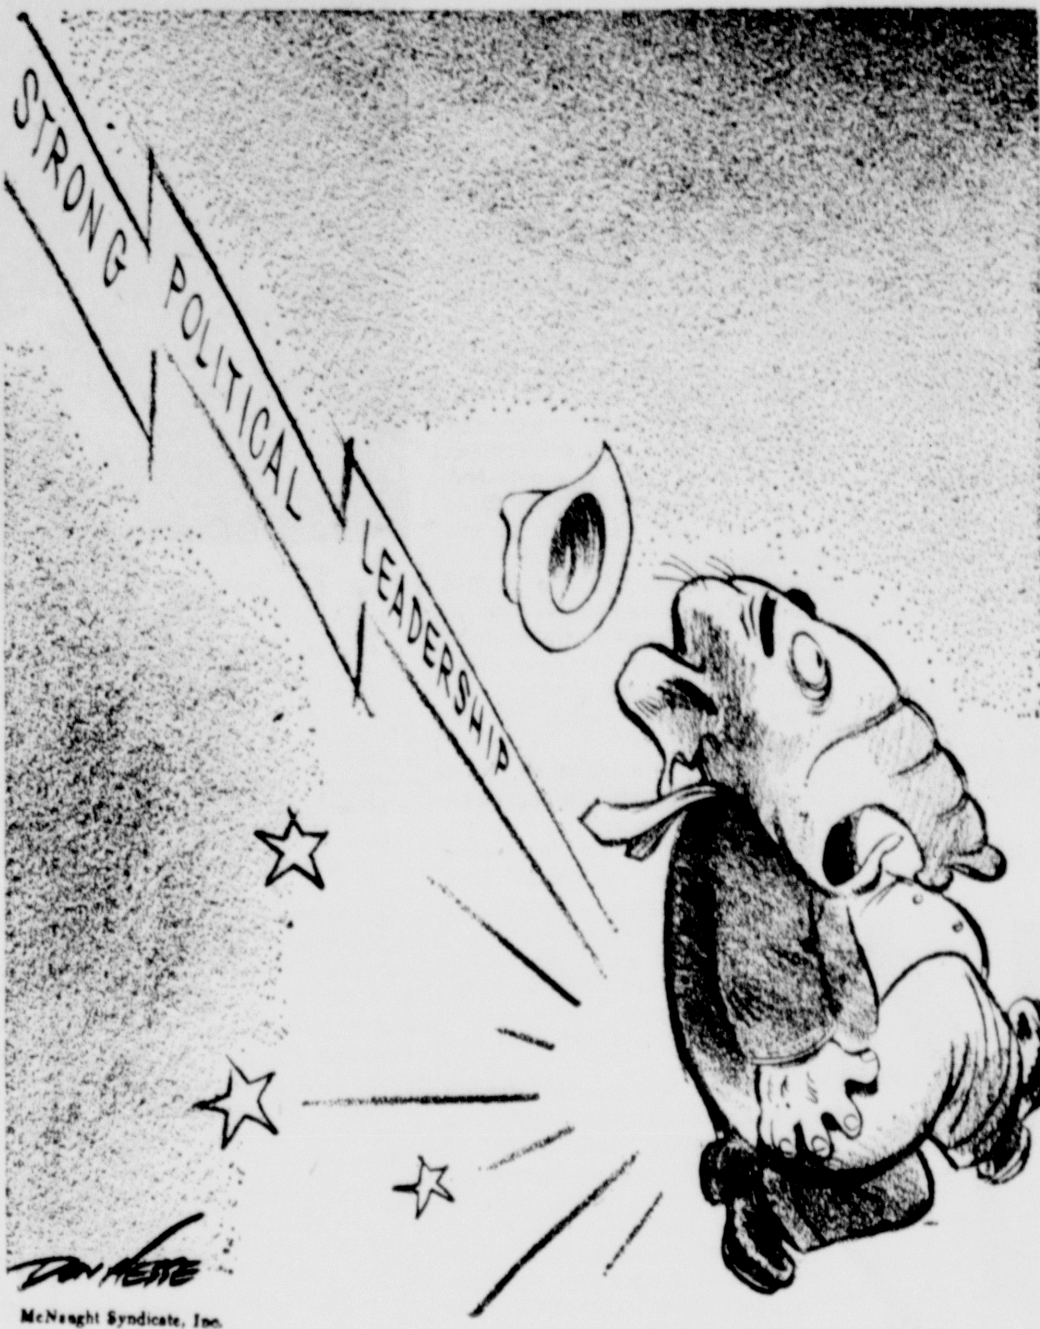

The Republicans believed that strategically this gave them a wonderful opportunity to win the Southern states as Herbert Hoover did in 1928. However, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of New York, who has for several years been working on these problems, announced his intention of making a floor fight on the platform which he said he regarded as more important than the candidate, although platforms are forgotten immediately after the election.

The one Republican candidate for President, Richard Nixon, desiring to avoid a floor fight at the Convention, which might really split the Republican Party, rushed up to New York, held a secret meeting with Governor Rockefeller and out of it came a fourteen point guide-line to the platform committee. This fourteen point document contains a Civil Rights plank as conclusive as the Democratic one. The tone of the Convention was antagonistic to this decision both from the standpoint of practical politics and from the standpoint of States Rights which the Republicans claim as their principle. The spontaneous reception given to Senator Barry Goldwater indicated an antagonistic reaction to the fourteen points.

In a word, the Negro issue developed into the principal question in both political conventions. The Negro vote in the North has apparently become politically more significant than the old Solid South. Also at issue is the question as to whether the Negro vote in the South is not growing so large that the Washington-based politicians of both parties take that into consideration.

GOP Displays Political Wisdom At Chicago

By David Lawrence

CHICAGO — The Republicans plan to offer the country a triumvirate of experience to meet the crises of a troubled world.

If Richard Nixon is elected President and Henry Cabot Lodge is the Vice President, they will confer and counsel often with Dwight Eisenhower. America's policies thus will be formulated on the basis of experience with all the controversies and personalities in international affairs gained in eight fateful years.

This is the meaning of what has been urged in favor of the combination of Messrs. Nixon and Lodge, both of whom have been so closely associated with the administration of President Eisenhower.

The way the delegates cheered Mr. Eisenhower and the enthusiastic reception given him by the people of Chicago would seem to indicate that folks generally would be glad to see Mr. Eisenhower continue to exert his influence, through his successor, on the side of patience yet firmness in dealing with the Soviet Union.

Henry Cabot Lodge is well known to TV audiences and in the press because of his courageous and skillful handling of the Soviet tirades in the United Nations meetings in New York. Since the forthcoming political campaign will raise the issue of experience versus inexperience in world affairs, the Republican leaders were wise to bring President Eisenhower here and to consider so favorably the selection of Henry Cabot Lodge for the Vice Presidential nomination. For the feeling is that international issues will be dominant in the campaign. Both Nixon and Lodge are good debaters and have a familiarity with the subject matter gained at first hand inside the United States government from day to day for the last seven years or more. Mr. Lodge has proved a masterful diplomat and speaks French fluently.

As for the platform controversies here, they appeared to fade away through "compromises."

Phraseology that emphasizes in broad terms the desired objectives rather than specific formulas or legislative proposals was adroitly employed as usual to satisfy conflicting elements.

But the Republicans did two significant things in their "civil rights" plank which will win them considerable support. They didn't endorse "sit-ins." For to do so meant something the Democrats overlooked—that the word

"sit-in" could be easily construed to include "sit-down" strikes in plants and factories as well as in business establishments. This particular issue was fought out in Michigan in the 1930s, when the Supreme Court of the United States declared "sit-in" strikes unlawful. Certainly in principle a non-violent occupation of a factory isn't any different from a non-violent occupation of a lunch counter.

The Republicans didn't mention "sit-ins" as such at all in the platform and wisely confined themselves to this broad statement: "We reaffirm the Constitutional right to peaceable assembly to protest discrimination in private business establishments. We applaud the action of the businessmen who have abandoned discriminatory practices in retail establishments, and we urge others to follow their example."

The reference to "peaceable assembly" means, of course, only outside the stores, where there is a legal right to protest or demonstrate.

The other piece of political wisdom emerged as the Republicans took note that the Democrats had, by their platform, called for abolition of all literacy tests for voting. This would require a Constitutional Amendment. The Republicans on the other hand, pledged "legislation to provide that the completion of six primary grades in a state-accredited school is conclusive evidence of literacy for voting purposes."

On balance, the South could regard the Republican "civil rights" proposals as somewhat better for them than the Democratic plank. As for the Negro leaders in the North, they may well find, as they study it, more specific guarantees or proposals to achieve civil rights spelled out in the Republican than in the Democratic platform. Indeed, the Republicans had an advantage because they could read the planks of their opponents and be guided by public criticisms.

It used to be that the Republicans held their convention first, but the procedure was turned around this year and the Republicans certainly profited by the mistakes made by the other side at Los Angeles. At least, the Republicans are conducting an orderly convention and the delegates have been in their seats virtually all the time during the sessions.

Heart Attacks And Cholesterol In The Diet

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Physicians are not sure, after 10 years of research, that fat in the diet is responsible for hardening of the coronary and other arteries. So many conflicting reports have appeared no one should make radical changes in their eating habits in an attempt to avoid heart attacks and strokes. The exceptions are a low caloric diet for overweight and less salt for hypertensives.

Obstruction of a coronary artery is the most common cause of the usual heart attack. Cholesterol is the fatty substance that clogs the blood vessels. Half of it comes from fat in the diet and the other half is manufactured by the body. In addition, many cardiac victims have a high concentration of cholesterol in the blood.

Scientists put two and two together and decided that a reduction of the blood cholesterol might prevent heart attacks.

But the mystery deepened because lowering the cholesterol level does not always do what it is supposed to do. This is understandable because other factors play a role in raising the blood cholesterol level and in the development of heart attacks. In addition, we cannot make the body stop manufacturing cholesterol.

Sudden or excessive emotional stress often precedes coronary thrombosis. The sex glands play a role in that female hormones protect women from coronary artery diseases and strokes up to the time of menopause. Tobacco enters the picture; many physicians believe its role in lung cancer has overshadowed its effect on the heart. High blood pressure and obesity vie with fat as equal contenders in this problem.

The blood cholesterol can be lowered by eating fewer animal fats and incorporating more vegetable oils into the diet. Thyroid extract, large doses of niacin, Triparanol, and certain plant steroids also help. But don't feel too smug if your cholesterol goes down because it takes more than this to outwit Father Time.

TOMORROW: Surgery for the troublesome prostate.

BLOATING AND ULCER

C. W. writes: Does a person with ulcer have lots of gas?

REPLY
This is not a common complaint unless the ulcer patient is constipated or the diet increases fermentation.

BUTTERMILK

M. L. writes: Is it a good idea to take buttermilk every day after an antibiotic has destroyed the friendly bacteria in the intestine?

REPLY

No harm but it is of questionable value. The normal bacterial flora of the intestine usually return in due time, after stopping the antibiotic.

POPEARED

N.A.M. writes: Why do my ears pop whenever I get a bad cold?

REPLY

Because the swollen membranes at the back of the throat obstruct the openings of the eustachian tubes that lead to the ears. The obstruction is not complete and whenever the tubes open momentarily, air rushes in and produces the popping sound.

THE WONDERS OF H3

T. S. writes: Will the new wonder drug, H3, which helps so many chronic illnesses, be of any value in multiple sclerosis?

REPLY

H3 is a new name for procaine, a local anesthetic that has been used for years to deaden pain. There is no reason why it should be of value in multiple sclerosis, despite the claims of the group touting the product.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Nixon Must Ride Two Elephants Headed In Opposite Directions

By Drew Pearson

CHICAGO—Now that the confetti is being swept up, the loud-speakers are mute, the baby elephant that begged for peanuts in front of the convention hall has gone back to hay, and the badges, the banners and bizarre pageantry which goes into the picking of presidents is no more, we can summarize the two most important things that stood out from this convention:

1.—The long-time split between the conservatives and liberals inside the Republican party is just as deep as ever.

2.—Richard Nixon rode those two divergent liberal and conservative elephants with great dexterity. But the big question is whether he can keep on riding them successfully through November.

The difficulty of his problem can be gauged from the private complaint of some delegates that he shouldn't have gone to New York at the last minute to woo Nelson Rockefeller. His wooing should not have been a rush job at the last minute, but a series of conferences held well in advance of Chicago, they said.

Those who complained didn't understand Nixon's problem of riding two elephants going in two opposite directions.

If he had conferred with Rockefeller early and accepted his liberal platform too far in advance, conservative Republicans would have bolted him. They would have plumped hard for Senator Goldwater.

To get nominated, Nixon had to have the GOP conservatives with him, because they control the convention machinery. Yet to get elected, he had to have the GOP liberals with him, such as Rockefeller, because they control the election machinery. So Nixon had to ride both elephants, and he couldn't let either one know what he was going to do until the last minute.

Expert Rider

Actually Richard Nixon has been riding the two divergent elephants of the Republican party during most of his political life and doing it with great dexterity. Inside fact is he began riding a donkey, voted for Roosevelt the first time he ever went to the polls, worked for the New Deal Office of Price Administration rationing tires, then was elected to Congress from wealthy suburban Los Angeles as a conservative Republican.

Ever since then he has kept his right foot carefully placed with the Taft wing of the GOP, his left foot probing gingerly, sometimes imperceptibly, for a place with the liberal wing.

He voted for the Taft-Hartley Act which labor hated, he as vice president maneuvered a steel strike settlement which labor loved. He was one of only three senators who voted to kill the civil rights bill in committee in 1951, yet has been pressuring delegates to adopt a strong civil rights platform in Chicago.

He voted against aid to Korea to block Communism in 1949, against military aid to Western Europe in 1949 when the Communists were pressing that area hardest, yet in recent years has wanted to spend more money on foreign aid.

And when Harold Stassen, then in charge of foreign aid, slapped down Sen. Joe McCarthy for interfering with its administration, Nixon went to McCarthy's rescue. He was also the man who did his best to rescue McCarthy during the Army-McCarthy hearings when Joe was getting the worst of it before the TV cameras.

All this endeared Nixon to the GOP right wing, the wing which has controlled party nominations but doesn't control elections.

Tipped Scales

No later than last December when the Republican liberals led by Senators Cooper of Kentucky, Case of New Jersey, and Javits and Keating of New York tried to give the Senate a new liberal GOP leadership, Nixon tipped the scales against them. These are all pro-Rockefeller men who believe in the liberal civil rights plank now favored by Nixon. But only six months ago he helped defeat them.

Four months ago he also broke a tie-vote in the Senate to defeat the Clark aid-to-education amendment. He cast his lot with the Senate conservatives on education, though he has publicly favored generous aid to education and though Congressman Walter Judd of Minnesota the key-note speaker no later than this week excoriated the Democrats for allegedly blocking aid to education. Actually it was the right wing Republicans, with Nixon's help which has consistently either blocked or whittled it down.

It has been Rep. Charlie Halleck of Indiana, the Republican leader who has given the signal to Rep. Howard Smith, the Virginia Dixiecrat, to block the education bill, the civil rights bill and all other liberal legislation.

This was the strategy of the wing of the Republican party which controls the machinery. Nixon worked hand-in-glove with that wing. However, the Vice President has not come a long way for nothing. He can count. He knows you can't beat arithmetic. He knows that right-wing Republicans hold a very limited number of votes among the great mass of the American people. And that's why at the last minute he paid court to Governor Rockefeller, and why he battled for a liberal Republican platform. By that time the nomination was in the bag, by that time he had his eyes on the next big goal to win in November.

Buying And Selling

By Leslie Gould

Differences of opinion are what make stock markets. Every time there is a sale, there is a buyer—or vice versa.

The big buyers in today's markets are the large investment trusts—the mutual funds, with more than $16 billion in their portfolios, and the closed end or management trusts, with $1.7 billion. They also are important sellers, but the nature of their business, particularly the mutual funds, make them more active on the accumulation side.

This is the "educated" money. All the trusts have large research staffs constantly studying every industry in search for new investments, in whether to keep or increase present holdings, or whether to sell or reduce commitments.

A study of the changes in the portfolios of two dozen funds, covering their operations in the second quarter of this year—April, May and June—finds a wide divergence of opinion.

One of the largest growth funds, eliminated its substantial holdings of Aluminum, Ltd. while another, even larger fund, also emphasizing capital gains, made a large new investment in Aluminum. Interesting, the sponsoring banking houses of two trusts have a close association.

In the second quarter, the market followed an irregular course, gaining some ground, but the sell off in July—the first month of third quarter—has wiped out that gain. The market July 22, made it 10 days in a row of declining prices, partly reflecting the troubled international situation.

The funds studied are fully invested. On the buy side the favored groups were the aircrafts, chemicals, drugs, foods, and beverages and book publishing. The air lines found little if any favor, and there was widespread selling of the mining stocks.

The oils, while attracting renewal of interest, were generally sold on balance. There was a difference of opinion on the bank and insurance stocks. One of the larger mutual funds dumped most of its bank stocks and bought drugs. The rubbers were in disfavor—three of four being sold.

There was selling of the chain stores, although retail stores as a group were bought on balance. Most interesting are the decisions of the individual trusts on stocks eliminated and on the new investments.

Lehman Corp.—one of the largest of the closed end trusts—made eight new investments and eliminated six stocks. New investments were 10,000 shares Bestwall Gypsum, 10,000 Atlas Powder, 50,000 Frito, 15,000 Holt, Rinehart & Winston, 10,000 Prentice-Hall, 10,000 Beryllium, 10,000 Brush Beryllium and 10,000 Upjohn. Eliminations were: 15,000 Sunbeam, 14,000 Gustin-Bacon, 3,000 Home Insurance, 17,500 Dominion Stores, 28,275 Grand Union, and 20,000 So. California Edison. A large additional purchase was 40,000 Minnesota, Mining and Manufacturing.

Tri-Continental Corp.—the biggest closed end trust—made three new purchases—10,000 Atlantic Coast Line, Philip Morris and 15,000 Reynolds Tobacco. Holdings eliminated were: 24,000 American Can, 31,200 Anaconda, 6,900 Burlington Industries, 23,100 Iowa-Illinois Gas & Electric. Another large sale was 25,000 Florida Power & Light.

Chemical Fund, large growth mutual fund, made no new investment, but eliminated all its holdings in Aluminum, Ltd., 49,000 shares, and Abbott Laboratories, 20,000. Chemical made some large additional investments, including 65,900 U. S. Borax & Chemical, 14,400 Royal Dutch, 19,700, Haloid Xerox, 12,700 Upjohn, and 36,100 Libbey-Owens-Ford.

One William Street Fund made seven new investments—10,000 Atlas Powder, 10,000 Beryllium, 10,000 Brush Geryllium, 25,000 International Tel. & Tel., 40,000 Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical, 30,000 Libbey-Owens-Ford, and 20,000 Stauffer Chemical. There were seven eliminations—15,000 Continental Insurance, 40,000 Duquesne Light, 30,000 Gen'l Portland Cement, 71,835 Gulf Oil, 20,000 Harco, 35,200 Sunbeam and 30,000 Texaco. Two large increases were 55,600 Clark Equipment and 20,000 Republic Steel. Large decreases included 20,000 Caterpillar Tractor, 51,700 Outboard Marine, 20,000 Pfizer and 28,000 Southern Co.

Lazard Fund made four new investments—30,000 Aluminum Ltd., 26,000 Colorado Interstate Gas, 12,000 National Lead, and 25,000 Newmont Mining. There were nine eliminations—10,000 Alcoa, 23,500 Armco Steel, 21,600 MacMillan, Bloedel & Powell River, 2,000 Migs. de Saint-Gobain, 7,500 Minneapolis-Honeywell, 17,000 Owens-Corning Fibreglas, 23,700 Republic Steel, 2,000 Societe des Acieries, and 17,300 So. Calif. Edison. Some large sales included 17,740 Georgia-Pacific, 36,500 RCA, 50,000 Southern Pacific, and 17,000 Southern Railway.

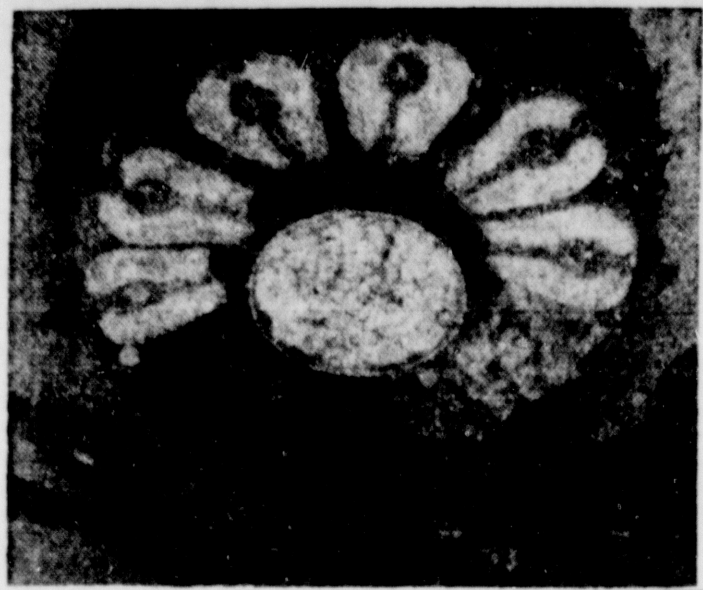

Massachusetts Investors Growth Stock Fund made one new purchase—25,000 Holt, Rinehard & Winston, and eliminated three—17,900 Mead Johnson, 29,000 Monterey Oil, and 29,000 Pan American World Airways. Large purchases included 40,000 Aluminum Ltd., 15,000 Amerasia, 17,500 Bell & Howell, 27,000 Honolulu Oil, 25,000 Southern Co. The trust sold 19,800 Halliburton Oil and 10,000 Pfizer.

United Income Fund made three new investments—25,000 Baltimore National Bank, 13,800 Calif. Packing, and 2,500 National Dairy. Two stocks were eliminated—20,000 Missouri Pacific, and 29,900 Pfizer. Two large additional purchases were 21,200 Kansas Power & Light, and 31,175 Marine Midland. Among sales were 11,000 Am Machine & Foundry, and 10,100 Hertz.

Dreyfus Fund made 15 new investments of which seven were in the drug industry and at the same time 18 investments were eliminated, of which seven were banks.

Pearadise Pacific Salad, It's Heavenly!

When the sun becomes a steady customer in the spring and summer, fruit salads are a popular favorite for luncheons and suppers alike. The Pearadise Pacific Salad is pleasing to both palate and eye as well.

This large fruit platter of tangy delicious fruits is served with cottage cheese that has been combined with coconut, mayonnaise and maple syrup and is a pleasant accent to the fruits.

Canned Bartlett pear halves are refreshing, spicy in flavor and blend well with any other fruits you might want to combine with them. The pear halves placed cut side up on a bed of lettuce make a delicate contrast to the lettuce greens and the bright red of the strawberries.

It is always a good idea to have several cans of the versatile canned Bartlett pears on your kitchen shelf because there are so many ways of combining this golden taste-tempting fruit—not only with salads, but meats and desserts as well. Pearadise Pacific Salad is aptly named since the Pacific Coast is a natural growing area for the firm, delightful pear. The ideal climate assures perfection in the mature fruit.

For a pleasant luncheon on the patio serve this delightful salad with small open-faced finger sandwiches or hot rolls and large glasses of iced tea or cups of steaming hot coffee. The accompaniments may be simple, since the salad is sure to take the eye and tempt the palate of your guests and family. This is sure to be a warm weather favorite. Because of the pleasing and welcome flavor of the Bartlett pears, this can be served often.

PEARADISE PACIFIC SALAD
6 canned Bartlett pear halves, drained
1 can (No. 303) pineapple chunks, drained
1 box fresh strawberries
Salad greens
Mint leaves
1 cup small curd cottage cheese
1/2 cup flaked coconut, toasted
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon maple syrup

Arrange pear halves, pineapple, and strawberries on bed of salad greens with pears cut side up over half the platter, and the other fruit in mounds over the rest of the platter. Garnish pear halves with mint leaves. Combine cottage cheese, coconut, mayonnaise and syrup. Serve in bowl in center of salad. Makes 6 servings.

The Subtle Art Of Salad Dressings

A salad is only as good as its dressing. No matter how fresh the fruit, how tender the meat, how crisp the greens, a salad with a non-descript dressing is seldom a success.

To delight your salad-eating family and friends, why not try your hand at making three authentic basic dressings, French, cooked, and mayonnaise. From these you can create endless variations to suit your fancy and the food you wish to embellish.

For example, to the French Dressing you can make such intriguing additions as water-cress, cucumber, Bar-le-Duc, and many others. The recipe is simple and can be whipped together in just minutes.

Combine 1/2 c. olive oil, 1/2 c. vinegar (tarragon, wine, cider, or malt), 1 tsp. salt, and 1/4 tsp. pepper in bowl, jar, or bottle; heat or shake until blended. Cover and refrigerate. Shake well before using. Makes 1 cup.

The Cooked Dressing, according to American HOME, is especially delicious combined with relish, celery, onion, dill, or caviar.

And the Mayonnaise Dressing is taste-perfect mixed with black olives, orange rind, curry, or gherkins. To prepare it combine 1/2 tsp. sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. dry mustard, and a few grains of cayenne in a deep bowl; add 1 egg; mix thoroughly. Add 2 tsp. tarragon vinegar slowly, stirring constantly. Measure 1 c. olive or salad oil. Beat in 3 teaspoons oil, a drop at a time, using rotary beater, or electric mixer at medium speed. Beat in remaining oil at a small amount at a time until mixture thickens. Be sure mixture is smooth before making next addition of oil. Stir in 1 tbs. lemon juice. Store, covered, in refrigerator. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Tomato Barbecue

1/2 cup corn oil
1/4 cup vinegar or lemon juice
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon salt
3 tablespoons sugar

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Heat to boiling. Keep hot for basting chicken.
YIELD: 2 cups.

Women's Wear Daily reports that Emilio Pucci, the Italian designer, is searching for a dream fabric to use in fashioning an invisible corset. He's looking for a seamless, flesh colored fiber with the resistance of a steel rope to make the foundation which only the wearer herself would know she had on. He calls such a corset "invisible" because it would "invisiblely" change the figure, shaping it naturally so that the existence of the corset is not apparent.

It's Picnic Time

"The good old summer time!" Certainly one of the things which makes it good is the chance to go on picnics and eat our food out of doors. Perhaps it's a stirring of ancestral memories, of cooking over campfires, which makes it good is the chance to go on picnics and eat our food out of doors. Perhaps it's a stirring of ancestral memories, of cooking over campfires, which makes us enjoy these occasions in so special a way. Or maybe it's just the gypsy in us!

Choosing the food for outdoor cooking isn't a matter of chance. Substantial food and plenty of it is essential. Ease of preparation is desirable.

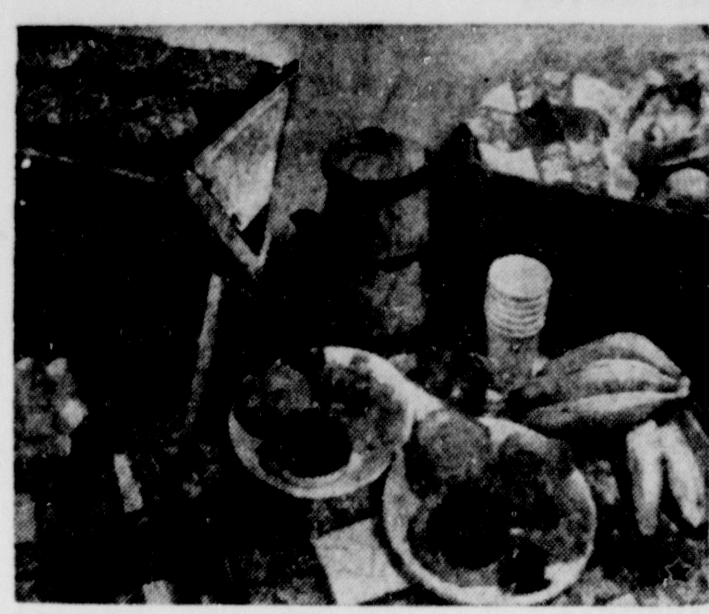

On both these counts ground beef patties rate high and as a result they are among the most popular meats for outdoor meals.

A home economist and meat expert has a suggestion for a variation in beef patties—twin patties, with stuffing between!

Instead of forming the patties in the usual way, 3/4 to 1 inch thick, make them half this thickness. Between each two patties place a filling. This may be grated American cheese, or blue cheese, or thin onion slices. Sweet pickle relish, stuffed olives, or grated raw potatoes are other suggestions.

Then press the edges firmly together so that none of the filling can escape before or during cooking.

The patties can be formed of seasoned ground beef (1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper to 1

Market Climbs As Margin Requirements Trimmed

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Federal Reserve Board's reduction in margin requirements from 90 per cent to 70 per cent sparked a higher stock market Thursday, giving the list its second gain in 14 sessions.

While the initial response to the margin cut—which means that buyers now need put up only 70 cents for every $1 of securities purchased, borrowing the balance from a broker or banker—was enthusiastic, many brokers remained cautious, insisting some further strong incentive probably will be needed for a sustained rise on volume.

In fact, closing prices Thursday were well below the best level set in the initial flurry of buying. However, individual changes, all the close to 2 or 3 points in a long list of issues and the averages, too, showed respectable improvement. Dow Jones industrials up 3.91 to 605.67, rails up 92.17 and 65 stocks 1.46 to 201.64.

Turnover was the best in almost three weeks, totaling 3,020,000 shares, compared with 2,560,000 on Wednesday.

Of a total 1,205 issues traded, 729 were higher on the day, 137 lower, and 339 unchanged.

Ground-in grime... or simply soiled...

you need CLOROX to get out dirt that suds leave in!

Naturally you add Clorox when things get grimy. But now we know there's dirt that suds can't budge even in lightly soiled wash loads. Tiny soil particles and normal body oils lock themselves in so tightly they're actually suds-proof. Getting suds-proof dirt out—and the gray it causes—calls for Clorox.

Clorox takes over where suds leave off. Suds loosen ordinary dirt. But suds-proof dirt demands the special dissolving action of Clorox. Every time you add Clorox, you add cleaning power that suds alone cannot match.

Clorox actually dissolves suds-proof dirt that makes clothes gray!

REUNION AT LAST

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Two brothers, born in Kansas but now living at opposite sides of the U.S. met here for a few days to catch up on each other's lives since they were parted 43 years ago by the death of their mother.

The two are Leonard Williams, 50, Spring Valley, Calif., and Donald Williams, 48, Reynoldsville, Pa. They saw each other in Pennsylvania in 1924 for a short period, but that is the only time they had met since 1917.

Steaks for broiling should be well marbled with fat. These streaks of fat mingled with the lean give beef a juicy, rich taste.

Spareribs Crisped With Brown Sugar, Apple Sauce

These barbecued spareribs give the Man of the House a grand chance to shine as Lord High Chef of the Cook-Out. The spareribs come off the grill crackly crisp and brown, savory with apple tang and herbs and seasonings, and underneath, richly succulent as pork always is. They are simple to prepare (although that needn't diminish the Chef's glory) and the result is magnificent eating.

Back of all this flavor is brown sugar and canned apple sauce touched with mustard, oregano and Worcestershire, all mixed ahead of time by You Know Whom. The Chef spreads the sauce deep over the spareribs. Then over the coals they go to acquire that crustiness and sugar-apple tang.

Delicious to serve with the spareribs are celery and carrot sticks, hot rolls and a chilled Apple-Pepper Relish made of canned apple sauce sharpened with onion and vinegar, flecked with chopped green pepper and red pimientos. (And if weather fouls you up on the day of your barbecue, you can bake the spareribs in the oven.)

Barbecued Spareribs

4 pounds spareribs
2 cups canned apple sauce
1/2 cup brown sugar

Home-Made Flavor

Mrs. Weiss
PURE EGG
NOODLES

C & B Distributing Co., Inc.

1/4 cup cider vinegar
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons oregano
1/2 cup chopped onion

Wipe spareribs with clean damp cloth, cut ribs in pieces having 4 ribs to a piece. Combine apple sauce, brown sugar, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, oregano and onion. Spread top of ribs generously with apple sauce mixture. Grill until underside is brown, then turn and spread that side with sauce mixture. Continue to grill, spreading several times with apple sauce mixture. Cook until crisp and brown and well done. Makes 46 servings. For picnic eating, cut ribs in single pieces and serve with napkins.

To cook indoors, bake at 350 degrees, 1 1/2 hours depending on thickness of ribs.

Apple Pepper Relish

2 cups canned apple sauce
1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup cider vinegar
1/2 cup finely chopped green pepper

1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 cup minced pimiento

Combine apple sauce, sugar, vinegar, green pepper, onion and pimiento. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until thick, about 20 minutes. Chill. Makes 2 cups. (Flavor is even better if relish is made a day ahead.)

Follow The Milky Way

Here's a recipe for a nutritious and attractive luncheon main dish to hit the spot any spring day. Tomato Rabbit, recommended by U.S. Department of Agriculture home economists, also makes an excellent Sunday supper delicacy.

2 tablespoons fat
1/2 small onion, chopped
1/2 cup finely cut celery
1/2 small green pepper, chopped
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1 1/2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups grated cheese
2 eggs, well beaten
Toast or crackers

Melt fat in a heavy fry pan. Cook onion, celery, and green pepper in it a few minutes. Blend in flour. Add tomatoes and salt. Cook until thickened, stirring often.

Remove from heat, add cheese. Stir until cheese is melted. Stir some of the mixture into eggs. Four back into fry pan and cook until thickened. Serve on toast or crackers. 4 servings.

SIGN LANGUAGE

RUTLAND, Vt. (UPI)—Aldous Huxley's "Brave New World" was the title of a sign read by a group of people who gathered outside a nearby home owners' meeting. The sign read "End of the road."

Fruit Meringue Pie With Chipped Beef And Pineapple Topping

(Makes 1 10-inch pie)
4 egg whites
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups diced fresh or canned pineapple
1 pint fresh strawberries
1/2 cup sugar
2 1/2 to 3 cups whipped pineapple instant nonfat dry milk crystals
Fresh mint

Combine egg whites and salt. Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add 1 cup sugar (1 tablespoon at a time) beating constantly until stiff and glossy. Line buttered 10-inch pie plate with meringue. Bake in slow oven (325°) 1 hour. Cool. Combine pineapple, strawberries and 1/2 cup sugar; mix well. Fill meringue shell with fruit mixture. Top with whipped pineapple instant crystals. Garnish with mint. To whip pineapple instant nonfat milk crystals: 1. Measure 1/2 cup chilled pineapple juice into bowl. Add 1/2 cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals. 2. Whip until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. 3. Continue whipping until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes longer). Fold in 1/2 cup sugar.

TAKE YOUR PICK

NEW YORK (UPI) — A model train company is trying its product into the forthcoming presidential campaigning.

The company (Lionel) is issuing a model, whistle-stop campaign train consisting of three campaign cars, a candidate's car, press car and Secret Service car. It also comes equipped with a whistle-stop audience. The company is playing no favorites. On one side, the cars are marked "Republican," on the other, "Democratic." Just blot out the one you don't favor.

Graduates are twice lauded when Chipped Beef-Cheese Diplomas are after-the-exercises fare. To make the "diplomas," spread slices of crust-trimmed bread with a filling of sharp cheese spread combined with finely chopped chipped beef. Roll up each bread slice, jelly roll fashion, fastening with a toothpick, if necessary. Brush with melted butter and place, open edge down, on cookie sheet. Toast until golden brown in a hot oven 400 degrees F., about 8 minutes, and "tie" the center with a strip of dried beef.

Tried this new taste in mustard?

Only mister mustard succeeds in being such a delightful contradiction of emphatically hot and delicately mild. (Its secret in the 20-page recipe spirited from Dijon, France.) Try it on sandwiches, meat, cheese, salads. This is a new taste in mustard. Emphatically different. Emphatically wonderful. Get it in the open refrigerator section of your food market.

COLORFUL

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pink and pinkish shades of face powder are the most popular with the majority of American women, 40 per cent of whom have fallow skins, reports the Variety Store Merchandiser, a trade publication. Medium pink shades lead in this market, with beige and pink tones. Rachels, ivory and light rounding out the five main shades in skin makeup.

DRYING REPORT

NEW YORK (UPI)—More than $32 million worth of towels and washcloths were sold through variety stores during 1959, the Variety Store Merchandiser, a trade publication, reports. Total sales exceeded $160 million. About 80 per cent of towels sold were terry cloth, with the balance in assorted linens, blends and synthetics.

Ice Cream Desserts

Among the most tempting ice cream desserts are pies served a la mode, baked Alaska, ice cream sundaes, sodas, milk shakes, peach parfaits, floats, and scoops of ice cream topped with a variety of fruits, berries, or cantaloup and watermelon balls. For an exceptionally delectable "no baking" pie, fill a vanilla wafer crust with ice cream, cover with crushed, sweetened fresh berries and top with whole berries. For a finishing touch, flute the edge of the pie with the whipped cream.

Another cool treat for a warm day, Lemon Milk Sherbet, combines two early summer plentiful. The recipe is recommended by U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists.

- 2 teaspoons gelatin
- 2 1/2 cups milk or half and half
- 1/2 cup lemon juice (or lime)
- 1/2 cup light corn syrup
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Soften gelatin in 1/2 cup of milk. Place dish over hot water and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Add the remaining milk and cool. Combine the sugar, corn syrup, lemon juice and salt. Add the mixture gradually to the milk, stirring constantly. Pour the mixture into the refrigerator tray and place in the freezer unit. Set at coldest point. Wet the bottom of the tray to hasten freezing. When the frozen mixture is firm after about 30 minutes, remove it to a chilled bowl and break up with a fork. Beat with a rotary beater until light and fluffy and return to the tray. Again wet the bottom of the tray and return to the freezer unit. When the sherbet is of serving thickness, after about 1/2 hour, turn the control to normal refrigerator temperature and hold the sherbet until time to serve—from one to three hours. Makes 8 servings.

Cheese-Nut Triangles

Getting right to the point, CHEESE-NUT TRIANGLES are designed to delight late-evening snackers. Bite sized and served hot, they're prepared from enriched bread slices, spread with this mixture — 1/2 cup pimiento cheese spread and 1 raw egg yolk, seasoned with minced onion, dry mustard, salt, and pepper. Trim crusts from bread. Cut each slice into 4 equal-sized triangles. Dip the top of sheets, 10 million more than the each triangle into roasted, sliced almonds. Then heat in a of these bed linens were colored, hot oven (400°F.) for 10 minutes. 23 per cent were fitted.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Printed flour bags and feed bags make attractive cake curtains and doilies. Usually colorful, they are practically costless.

For safety's sake, keep sharp kitchen knives in a place separate from other cooking utensils.

Before storing a partly-used can of paint, mark a thin line on outside at level of leftover paint. Then you'll know without opening can how much remains.

Dining alone without your family? It will seem less lonely if you tote your meal to a pleasant spot in the house, away from the empty dining table.

SHEET STATISTICS

NEW YORK (UPI)—The average housewife buys four bedsheets at a time, according to a survey by Variety Store Merchandiser, a trade publication. Last year, distaff customers bought upwards of 140 million sized sheets, 10 million more than the previous year. About 25 per cent of these bed linens were colored, 23 per cent were fitted.

Beat The Heat With Refreshing Cooler

Relaxing over a cool refreshing milk drink is one sure way to "beat the heat" on warm summer days. Nourishing too, is this combination of milk and ice cream giving added energy for summer activities as well as supplying high quality protein, minerals and vitamins.

A variety of refreshing milk shakes, punches or coolers may be made quickly and easily when a generous supply of milk and ice cream are readily available in the refrigerator and freezer. Youngsters and oldsters will enjoy whipping up a cooling and satisfying milk drink when friends drop in, so keep a supply of fruit and other syrups on hand.

A delightful blend of flavors is achieved in this Black Bottom Cooler using rich chocolate ice cream, ice cold milk and instant coffee. Simply blend the ice cream with milk and instant coffee and you will have a cooler—a dress-up garnish.

- 2 cups chilled milk
- 2 tablespoons instant coffee
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Shaved chocolate
- Combine 1 pint ice cream, milk, coffee and vanilla, mix until smooth (use blender, mixer or mixer if available). Scoop 1 pint ice cream into bottoms of 4 tall glasses. Pour milk mixture over ice cream and scoop remaining ice cream into glasses. Top with shaved chocolate. Makes 4 servings.

Conventions, Care And Feeding Of

By CHET HUNTLEY

The quadrennial cry for a "streamlining" of political convention is not properly a question for the radio and television networks to resolve. It is a problem for the political parties.

There are four basic purposes for a national nominating convention: to nominate a candidate for President; to nominate a candidate for Vice President; to write a platform; and to present the ticket, the platform, and the party to the nation against a background of enthusiasm and deep political conviction.

The nominating procedures for President and Vice President are self-sustaining in interest and drama.

But interest flags when the convention presents its platform and otherwise offers its image to the television and radio audience.

There is a happy area somewhere between the long moments of convention boredom, on the one hand, and a slick condensation of the convention procedure on the other. On the night of Wednesday, July 13th, more people were looking at the Democratic National Convention than ever looked at any one event in all history. Nevertheless, the Democrats tried the patience of that incredible audience to the breaking point with weary demonstrations, limp seconding speeches, and the revolting message of egos in the form of nominating speeches for "favorite sons."

The acknowledged clumsiness of the convention procedure is Sewerage Job Bids Sought

The Upper Potomac River Commission is seeking bids for the construction of sewerage facilities to serve the Town of Westport. Sealed proposals will be received by the commission until 10 a.m. August 11 at the Commission's waste treatment plant in that community. This project includes the construction of eight, 12, 16, and 20 inch sewers and appurtenances and a sewage pumping station which includes a mechanical screen and grit removal facilities. Copies of the contract documents are on file and may be obtained at the treatment plant in Westport. The right is reserved by the commission to reject any or all bids.

Baltimore Man Is Fined $100

Alvin Lee Brinkman, 45, of Baltimore, was fined $100 yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court on a motor vehicle violation. He pleaded guilty to the charge placed against him by State Trooper George Wachter and Officer Joseph Harvey of the Cumberland Police Department. Brinkman was arrested Wednesday night by Trooper Wachter after the Baltimore man's car swung wide at the intersection of Regina Avenue and First Street and struck a parked vehicle.

Parents Invited To Bible School

The parents of children who have been attending the vacation Bible school of Trinity Lutheran Church these past two weeks are invited to attend the closing session this evening.

Rev. Herbert W. Nommensen, pastor, said the session will begin about 7 p.m. in the Youth Building. Parents may attend the classes if they wish.

They may see the craft work completed by the youngsters. It will be on display in the Youth Building during a fellowship period from 8:30 to 9 p.m.

Rolling Tire Causes Damage Totaling $150

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI)—A group of youngsters had fun Wednesday night rolling an old tire but by the time it ended police had been informed of damages estimated at $150. The tire got away from the youngsters on a hill and it crashed into the side of the Richard Schoepner home. The house shook, cabinets rattled and furniture danced. Schoepner reported to police several pieces of glassware were broken.

Underwood Thinks Nixon Will Win W.Va.

CHICAGO (UPI)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia said Thursday he thinks Vice President Richard Nixon has a better chance to win in the Mountain State than when President Eisenhower carried the state in 1952 and 1956.

Underwood, who served as temporary chairman of the Republican National Convention, said Nixon was the strongest candidate the party could have selected for president.

Underwood also had some say in the selection of UN ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge as Nixon's running mate. The 37-year-old chief executive was one of 30 Republican leaders that met with the Vice President Wednesday night to make the selection.

Commission Honors Charter Members

Charter members of the Municipal Airport Commission received a vote of thanks for their services at a joint meeting Wednesday with the Mayor and Council.

Honored were Arthur J. Weber, T. Donald Shires, Thomas Lohr, Richards and G. Wyatt Brenaman.

Other charter members of the commission appointed in 1945 are Edmund S. Burke, Charles Z. Heskett and the late Oscar A. Gurley.

W. Donald Smith, chairman, suggested that the men be cited for their continuous service toward the airport which he termed a major asset of the City of Cumberland.

Planning Group

(Continued from Page 32) and roads. The land use plan calls for allocation of different parts of the county to the particular land uses for which they are most suited, in consideration of existing uses, functional fitness and estimated future requirements.

Next, under land use, is listed residential community structure. This concerns identification of existing or natural residential communities; plans for organizing present and prospective residential developments of urban type into well designed communities economical to service and operate.

First under highways and roads is listed major highway plan. This would be a comprehensive plan of highways and major roads, coordinated with the plans of the county and state road department for augmenting existing traffic facilities and to serve, among other things, as a guide in the layout and control of real estate subdivisions.

The final item in the preliminary outline covers expressway integration. This involves studies and recommendations for proper integration of existing and proposed expressways with the present and desirable future major highway and thoroughfare system of the county and also with the existing and desirable future pattern of land uses and general development of the county.

Next regular meeting of the new commission is Thursday, August 25. It is hoped that the revised contract will be ready for signing by that time.

Getting Even?

CHESTER, W. Va. (UPI)—The firemen's carnival here has an unusual event on tap Saturday night. For a small fee, persons attending the affair can dunk the mayor, a minister and a councilman in a water-filled pit.

Mayor Ray Collins substituted the event in place of bingo games he banned Monday night.

Collins, Councilman Don Chaney and the Rev. Earliss D. Gleason of the Christian Church will be available for one hour each.

NAMED TO POST

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Morris Harvey College Thursday announced the appointment of Richard L. Robinson of Huntington as new director of Public Information at the institution.

Randolph Cites Oil, Gas Progress

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The upswing in the oil and natural gas industry in this tri-state area will provide an economic shot in the arm for the area, Sen. Jennings Randolph (D-W. Va.) said Thursday.

The West Virginia Democrat made the statement while addressing the annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute, Eastern Division.

Randolph said, "The major oil and natural gas companies look upon the section embraced by West Virginia, western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio as the largest potential source of new gas reserves in the country."

Frostburg Little Leaguers Lose At Martinsburg, 7-1

West Virginia Club Gets Six Runs In Sixth

Smallwood Fans 12, Femi Belts Homer, Finals Set Today

Crafty Junior Smallwood knocked Frostburg out of the District One Little League playoffs by pitching Martinsburg to a 7-1 decision over the Mountain City tossers yesterday at Martinsburg, W. Va.

Smallwood turned back the Allegany Countians with six hits and mowed down an even dozen via the strikeout route. Arthur "Pooch" Femi's home run in the fourth inning cheated Smallwood of a shutout.

Femi's homer knotted the score at 1-1 and Bobby Seibert and Smallwood were engaged in a slab duel until the top of the sixth when the West Virginians exploded for six runs to sew up the decision.

Exploded in Sixth
Four singles, doubles by Jack Burke and Tom Bigarelli and three walks coupled with an error marked Martinsburg's big inning. Before the inning was completed Vic Ryan and Stewart Shaner followed Seibert on the mound for the losers.

Seibert tolled 5½ innings, yielded six hits and fanned six. Bigarelli accounted for two of Martinsburg's nine hits. Joe McGreevy obtained two of Frostburg's six blows, one being a two-base wallop.

Frostburg had eliminated Oakland and Paw Paw prior to being ushered out of the playoffs yesterday.

District Final Today
Martinsburg scored its third straight victory and will battle it out with West End of Hagerstown in the District One final today at Martinsburg. West End defeated the Hagerstown Federals yesterday by the score of 6-2.

Tankers Collide

ASTORIA, Ore. (UPI) — Two tankers collided off the mouth of the Columbia River in dense fog Thursday, but neither ship was disabled and no injuries were reported.

Lt. J. M. Santee, executive officer of the Coast Guard Security office here, said the vessels were the Point Reyes and the Flying-A Washington.

Barber Hurls One-Hitter For Orioles

Baltimore Beats Bud Daley, 5-0

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Rookie southpaw Steve Barber gave up a lone hit to Hank Bauer in the sixth inning Thursday night while the Orioles smashed three homers for Baltimore's 5-0 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

Barber struck out 10 and gave up five walks as he picked up the first shutout of his career and his first victory since May 29.

Bauer led off the sixth with a line single, but Barber retired the next 12 men in order to break a personal three-game losing streak and win his sixth of the season.

Brooks Robinson and Ron Hansen powered Baltimore to a 4-0 lead with two-run homers in the first inning and Gene Woodling connected for the fifth to close out the Orioles scoring.

Bud Daley, who had beaten Baltimore twice earlier this season, lost his third in a row to the Orioles. It was also his fourth successive loss and lowered his record to 12-8.

Senators Top Tigers In 9th

Three-Run Rally Produces 6-5 Win

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pete Whisenant's sharp grounder with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth went through Frank Bolling's legs for an error Thursday night and gave the Washington Senators a 6-5 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The Senators entered the ninth trailing by two runs when Bob Bruce opened by walking Lenny Green and Bob Allison.

Bill Fischer took over and got Jim Lemon on a fly ball. Reno Bertoia singled to center, scoring Green and putting Allison on third. Billy Gardner then walked, filling the bases. Elmer Valo batted for Jose Valdivielso and flied deep to Rocky Colavito, scoring Allison with the tying run.

Julio Becquer got an intentional pass and Whisenant, batting for Chuck Stobbs, ended the game with a drive through Bolling's legs, scoring Bertoia.

Stobbs gained his eighth victory of the year while Fischer, traded last week to Detroit by Washington, got the loss.

Jim Lemon hit his 26th homer of the year to pace the Senators' 10-hit attack.

Hal Woodeshick, who turned in five scoreless innings after relieving starter Tex Clevenger in the second, was the victim of his own wildness as he walked Johnny Groth and Norm Cash to set the stage for a base-clearing double by Bolling in the eighth inning that gave Detroit a 5-3 lead.

Russian Lawyer To Defend Powers

MOSCOW (UPI) — American pilot Francis G. Powers will be defended by a Soviet lawyer when he goes on trial for espionage Aug. 17, a high Soviet judge told a visiting member of the British Parliament Thursday.

In a brief talk with Lev Smirnov, deputy chairman of the Supreme Court of the U.S.S.R., G. B. Finlay asked whether Powers would be defended by foreign counsel.

Smirnov answered, "he can be defended by a Soviet lawyer."

Rotarians Score Over Jaycees, 9-4

Manager Ronnie Cage's Outdoor Club tossers reeled off their third straight win the Hot Stove League yesterday when they trimmed the Elks at Mason Road Field by the score of 8-6.

Each team collected eleven hits. Bobby Brady headed the O.D.C. with a double and two singles, Jim Graham and Jim Mertens collected a double and single each and Jim Rice obtained two singles. Pat and Joe Chorpennung with a triple and single each led the Elks at the plate. Price, McFarland and Foley also had two hits each.

Darrell Merkel featured in centerfield for the O.D.C. with a running catch of a line drive from the bat of Joe Chorpennung. At Penn Avenue Field, the Rotary Club trimmed the Jaycees, 9-4, and moved near the .500 mark with a 10-11 record.

John Roy, who replaced Isner, who was wild at the outstart, limited the Jaycees to one hit over 6½ innings, and was credited with the win. He also blasted a homer and single. Greg Skidmore collected three hits and Terry Lease garnered a pair of safeties for the Rotarians. Skidmore excelled at third base and Bobby Reed stood out at the initial hasek for the winners.

Adams and Zembower had the two hits credited to the Jaycees. Scores:

Man Sues Probers Of Family Slaying
FAIRFAX, Va. (AP) — A man picked up by police in their investigation of the Jackson family slayings Thursday filed a $225,000 suit against three state policemen and a Fairfax County police lieutenant.

The man, whose identity has never been made public, said the actions of the police caused him and his wife "mental suffering, humiliation, embarrassment and consequential detriment to their reputation and standing in the community."

He was picked up June 8 after a Dutch telephonist, Peter Herkos, investigated the slayings of the four members of the Jackson family.

Since then, the FBI has arrested Melvin D. Rees Jr., 31, a Hyattsville, Md. musician. Rees has been indicted and has pleaded innocent in two Jackson family deaths. He is expected to face trial early this fall.

Yankees Regain Lead, Beat Cleveland Twice

Ford, Turley Post 4-0, 9-2 Triumphs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Whitey Ford and Bob Turley each gained his seventh victory of the season Thursday night when the New York Yankees whipped the Cleveland Indians, 4-0 and 9-2, and took over first place in the American League by 3 percentage points.

The two victories ran the Yankees' winning streak to four games and gave them a 584 percentage compared to the 581 of the Chicago White Sox, who lost an afternoon game at Boston. The faltering Indians now have lost five straight games and 15 of their last 20.

Tony Kubek, Mickey Mantle and Cleto Boyer hit homers to account for all the Yankees' runs in the first game. Yogi Berra, Mantle and Bobby Richardson each had two hits to lead the Yankees' nine-hit attack in the nightcap.

Bobby Shantz shut out the Indians with three hits over the last four innings of the first game to preserve the win for Ford, who retired after five innings with an upset stomach.

Ryne Duren replaced the tiring Turley in the eighth inning of the second game and held the Indians at bay for the final two frames.

The second game also featured several arguments involving Indian players and the umpires. Third baseman Johnny Temple was ejected in the first inning and first center-fielder Jim Piersall had several brushes with the umpires for his antics in the field.

Three-Run Rally Wins Game In 7th

Robert "Cokie" Robertson emerged the winner over Lefty Dave Wilson in a slab duel yesterday as Lonaconing downed Franklin by the score of 5-4 at Franklin and moved within a game of Barton's front-running Braves in the Twilight Baseball League.

The win was Lonaconing's 15th against five losses. Barton leads with a 15-3 record.

Hank Winner and Bobby Munden shared six of 'Coney's seven hits. Munden rapped a pair of doubles and a triple and Winner larruped a double and two singles. Vinci collected a two-bagger and singe to pace Franklin.

Cuthbertson's two-run triple followed by Budries' sacrifice fly produced three runs and enabled Lonaconing to come from behind and win the game in the 7th and final stanza. Score:

first inning. Piersall stationed himself on the center field cinder track about 430 feet from the plate when Cleto Boyer went to bat and had to be called back to his proper position by Manager Joe Gordon.

Kubek hit a two-run homer in the third inning and Mantle and Boyer hit back-to-back homers in the sixth inning of the first game as the Yankees handed 11-game winner Jim Perry his fifth loss.

The Yankees nailed Barry Latman with a four-run rally in the first inning of the nightcap and iced the game with a four-run fifth inning rally during which three runs were unearned as a result of first baseman Bob Hale's error.

Ike Hails Nominees, Sees GOP Victory
DENVER (UPI) — President Eisenhower warned Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Thursday night they face a hard campaign but predicted their "combined wisdom and knowledge of the affairs of government" will insure a Republican victory.

The President, visiting here for a few days, telegraphed his "heartiest congratulations" to the party's nominees for president and vice president, moments after Lodge's nomination was assured when no other names were put before the convention.

In a message to both, he said he joined convention delegates in applauding the selection of "such a strong and experienced Republican national ticket."

"It has real stature," the President said.

Mickey Wright Leads In Open

Cards 1st Round 71, Holds 2-Stroke Edge

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Mickey Wright turned in the best putting performance on her golf career Thursday to fire a 4-under par 71 to take the lead after the first round of the American Women's Open.

Miss Wright, of San Diego, Calif., holed a 25-foot putt on the 18th green at the 6424 yard Hiawatha Golf Course here to take a one-stroke lead over Patty Berg and Barbara Romack.

Miss Wright, the longest hitter on the women's pro circuit, had only 26 putts in her pace-setting round, and had 6 birdies. She went over par on two holes as she recorded nines of 36-35.

Marlene Bauer Hagge, Delray Beach, Fla., was three strokes off the pace at 74 as she snapped out of a season-long putting slump and used only 29 putts in the round.

Gene Littler Leads Eastern Open Tourney

Posts Score Of 65, Has Seven Birdies And Eleven Pars

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif., steamed his way around humid Pine Ridge Thursday in a repeat performance of his 1959 record of 65 strokes in the first round of the $25,000 Eastern Open Golf Tournament.

Littler, 30-year-old best known for winning the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas three times in a row, took the first round lead for the second straight year with seven birdies and 11 pars.

Littler's sizzling round shoved him ahead two strokes ahead of Jackie Burke, and a Puerto Rican newcomer, Juan Rodriguez.

"The course couldn't possibly have played any easier," Littler said with customary modesty. "There was no wind and the greens were soft."

Par was at the mercy of a field of 152 competitors.

A stroke behind Burke and Rodriguez at 68 were George Bayer of Glen-Eagles, Ill., Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La., Doug Ford and Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla.

Rodriguez, 24-year-old playing in only his fourth tournament in this country, and the 37-year-old Burke came in one after the other with their scores of 67 and enjoyed the lead for a couple of hours before Littler finished.

The winner of the Oklahoma City Open this year and five PGA tournaments last year, Littler made three of his birdies on the first nine holes and four coming home.

On the four holes longer than 500 yards, Littler was on the greens in two shots and potted a routine twice for birdies. He sank putts of 10, 6 and 35 feet for his three other birdies.

Littler has been on a hot streak since the end of April although the Oklahoma City Open was his only first place. In his last 12 tournaments, he has picked up $20,211.

Four Survive Western Golf

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sandra Spuzich of Indianapolis holed a 15-foot putt on the 18th green for a 1-up victory over Barbara Williams, Richmond, Calif., Thursday and a semifinal berth in the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament.

Judy Kimball, former Iowa champion from Grimes, upset Judy Eller, Southern champion from Old Hickory, Tenn., 2 and 1 in their quarterfinal match. Miss Kimball will meet Miss Spuzich in one of Friday's 18-hole semifinals.

Judy Bell of Wichita, Kan., parred the 19th hole to beat Doris Phillips, Belleville, Ill., 1 up.

Mrs. Anne Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa, defeated Mrs. Paul Dye, Indianapolis, 2-up and will meet Miss Bell in the semis.

Sales Are Up

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — Ticket sales for West Virginia University's home football games this fall are running well ahead of last year, Business Manager C. S. (Wink) Simmons reported Thursday.

Simmons said appearances by national champion Syracuse and neighborhood rival Maryland had helped stimulate the sales. Good seats will remain on sale through Aug. 6, he said.

Nile Shuck's Hit Wins Game In 10th

Rallying for two runs in the top of the tenth inning, the Rockers defeated the Chairs by the score of 7-6 yesterday at Stitches Field in the annual All-Star game of the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Nile Shuck, of the Celanese A.A., who took over the pitching chores for the Rockers in the fifth inning, won his own game by driving in both runs with a timely single in the top of the extra inning.

Johnny Price of the Moose doubled, moved to third on a hit by Herman Lewis, also of the Moose, and after Donnie Farrell of the Chairs got a life on an error to fill the bases, Shuck singled over the two tallies.

Floyd "Pete" Elliott, of the V.F.W., who came on in the 7th inning, succeeding Glenn Kauffman, of Ritter's, was tagged with the loss.

Four of the Rockers' nine hits were shared by Bob Keyser and Johnny Price of the Moose. The latter smashed a triple and singled. Vern Penner accounted for two of the Chairs' ten safeties.

Herman Lewis piloted the Rockers composed of players from the Moose, Celanese, K. of C. and Elks. The Chairs were piloted by Cecil Grimes and the squad comprised players from the V.F.W., Ritter A.C., Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company and Elks.

Score:
Rockers 7 0 0 0 1 0 2-7 9 1
Chairs 6 0 0 0 1-6 10 1
Kauffman, Moose; Shuck, Celanese A.A. (3); and Harden, Celanese A.A. (3); Farrell, K. of C.; Thompson, Celanese; G. Kauffman, Ritter A.C. (4); Elliott, V.F.W. (7); and Krueger, Celanese; Ritter, Ritter A.C. (4); and Ingram (9).
Winner—Shuck. Loser—Elliott.

BATTLE FREDERICK HERE SATURDAY — The Western Maryland American Legion junior baseball championship will be at stake this weekend when the tusslers representing Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, shown above, battle Francis Scott Key Post, of Frederick, in a best-of-three series, commencing with a twin bill at 1:30 p. m., Saturday at Stitches Field. The third game, if necessary, will be staged on the same field Sunday afternoon. The winner goes on to College Park next weekend to compete in the Maryland Department American Legion championship tourney. The local squad pictured above, left to right: FRONT ROW—Jim Stewart, Harold Allison, Ted Femi, Roger Mangas, John Hinds, Ronnie Evans, Bill Lovett and Jim Willetts. BACK ROW—George E. Ziegler, manager; Ted Femi, assistant coach; Glen Shipway, Ronnie Mangas, Gary Clingerman, Melvin Nines, John Price, Joe Ranker and Frank Zahradka, coach. Rich Parsons and Roger Flanagan were absent yesterday when the photo was taken.

Eagles, Maroons To Tangle Today

Cresaptown Victory Ties Teams For 2nd

Cresaptown's Eagles defeated Wellersburg by the score of 15-9 yesterday at Wellersburg and wound up its regular Pen-Mar Little League schedule tied with the LaVale Orioles for second place.

The deadlocked runners-up with 14-6 records will tangle today at 6 p. m., at Parkside Field in a playoff contest to determine the second and third place teams for the playoffs.

The Eagles racked up a total of 18 hits, including two triples, a double and two singles each by John Wright and Billy Shoup. John Ferrone collected three hits and Allen Cecil two. Larry Don and Royce O'Baker shared four of the six hits credited to Wellersburg.

Barrelville's pennant winning nine notched its 16th win in 19 starts yesterday by trimming the LaVale Orioles at Parkside, 12-1, on a one-hitter by Colen Kennell, who bagged his fifth win against two losses.

Wiley's homer in the fifth inning averted a shutout for the Orioles. Paul Robison belted a homer and two singles and Duane Knieriem smashed a round-tripper and single for Barrelville.

Today, Barrelville winds up its 20-game schedule by playing the Orioles at Barrelville. Scores:
Wellersburg 200 020-9 6 3
Cresaptown 334 000-15 18 5
L. Troutman, R. Stewart (4) and Huffman, R. Weaver, R. Phillips (5) and Cecil.
Winner—Weaver. Loser—L. Troutman.

Lowery Cops 17th For Ellerslie, 3-1

Vernon Lowery racked up his 17th victory of the season in the County Softball League yesterday when he pitched Ellerslie to a 3-1 decision over Kennell's Mill at the latter place.

The win gave Ellerslie a 20-7 record for the campaign.

Lowery, who has lost six games, tossed a 4-hitter and struck out five. Bill Bryant's triple scored Kennell's Mill lone run in the sixth inning.

Jim Mathews accounted for two of the five safeties credited to Ellerslie. Score:
Ellerslie 002 000 1-3 6 3
Kennell's Mill 000 001 0-1 4 0
V. Lowery and Mathews, J. Kennell and Kimer.
HR—Wiley (Orioles); Knieriem, Robison (Barrelville).

Tigers, Dodgers Win In Dan Loop

DAN DIVISION

Standing	W.	L.
Tigers	10 2	Athletics 6 5
Indians	7 5	Senators 5 8
Braves	5 5	Dodgers 3 9

The Tigers upped their lead to three games in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Little League by beating the Senators yesterday at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 10-7.

George Showalter went the route for the league leaders and notched his 5th win against a single loss. He fanned six as did "Bob" Natale, the loser.

Hal Dougherty had a perfect day at bat for the Tigers with four-for-four, Dave Phillips and Rich Aman each socked a homer and single, and Timmy Scaletta and Showalter garnered two singles each. Robert Lewis had two hits and Mike Wilt blasted a triple for the Senators.

In an extra inning game at Constitution Park, the Dodgers edged the Athletics, 3-2, when Ronnie Flora was hit by a pitched ball with the bases full in the bottom of the 7th. Two walks and an error loaded the hassocks before Norris hit Flora to force over the deciding run.

Only five hits were chalked up in this game. Tommy Clay and John Williams smacked two-baggers for the Dodgers. Francis Linaweaver, who replaced Flora in the 7th, was the winner.

At PENN AVENUE:
Tigers 122 320-10 15 2
Senators 900 015-7 6
Showalter and G. Neas, Natale and J. Plummer, G. Mattingly (4).
At CONSTITUTION PARK:
Athletics 000 011 0-2 2 2
Dodgers 010 010 1-3 3 1
(Seven innings)
Leasure, Norris (7) and Davis, Flora, Linaweaver (7) and W. Thomas.
Winner—Linaweaver. Loser—Norris.

The Bowler Wins, Kenney Bags 10th

Bill Kenney became the second Rec Softball League pitcher to win ten or more games this season when he twirled The Bowler to a 7-3 decision over the Baldies yesterday at Fort Hill Field.

The win gave Kenney a 10-3 record for the campaign. He is topped only in total wins by Rich Smith who owns an 11-0 mark for the Sports Shoppe.

Kenney also aided his own cause by belting a home run. "Wagie" Deremer had a perfect day at the plate for The Bowler with a triple, single and base on balls to his credit. One of the six hits yielded by Kenney was a two-bagger by Jerr Smith. Score:
Baldies 001 001 1-3 6 3
The Bowler 032 011 7-12 1
Bill Paif and D. Smith, Bill Kenney and M. Morgan, J. Weakley (4).
HR—Bill Kenney (The Bowler).

Jones Is Injured

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pitcher Sam Jones of the San Francisco Giants has a hairline fracture in the middle finger of his left hand, X rays disclosed Thursday, but trainer Frank Bowman said it would not affect his pitching.

Jones sustained the injury Friday night when Carlton Willey of the Milwaukee Braves smashed a ball back to the box during the ninth inning.

Pitching Coach Harry Brecheen of the Baltimore Orioles started in 1935 with Galveston in the Texas League. He lost his first day at 3:30 p. m., at Constitution three decisions.

French Horses Will Race In Maryland

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Nine French horses, including young Aga Khan's highly rated pair of Charlottesville and Sheshoon, are being considered for the $100,000 Washington, D. C. International at Laurel Race Course Nov. 11, track officials said Thursday.

To Clash Saturday

The Pirates-Phillies game of the Dapper Dan Little League which was rained out Tuesday in 1935 with Galveston in the Texas League, has been rescheduled for Saturday at 3:30 p. m., at Constitution Park.

400-Year-Old Passion Play

ROAD TO CALVARY. Jesus falls under the weight of the cross as His mother, the Virgin Mary, weeps in the arms of friends. All parts in the play are taken by the townspeople of Valmontone.

Each spring, at Easter time, some 800 residents of Valmontone, a town in Italy, 26 miles from Rome, exchange their workaday clothes for costumes of the Bible and put on their Passion Play.

The town clerk may become Jesus Christ, a stenographer, Mary Magdalene, and a bricklayer may fill the role of Judas. The townspeople of Valmontone have been adopting such parts and others in the great religious play ever since they first produced it in the 16th century. It has remained unaltered since that time.

Unlike many other Passion Plays, the Valmontone play includes characters and scenes from both the Old Testament and the New. The highlight, the most tragic and dramatic of all, is the Passion of Christ.

The play, too, is unusual since it has no written text and the players extemporize from time to time. They move in a procession through the town, stopping only to produce a certain scene or tableau in an open square or in front of a church.

Pontius Pilate washes his hands, in effect condemning Jesus to be crucified.

Judas, one of the 12 disciples of Jesus who later betrayed Him, is full of anguish as he sees Jesus condemned to the cross.

Jesus carries cross on which He will be crucified. In back is one of the two thieves who were crucified at same time as Jesus.

Veronica wipes the face of Jesus with her scarf when He falls under the weight of the cross.

Body of Jesus is taken to the tomb after His death on the cross.

Mounted Roman cavalry in procession through streets of Valmontone adds color to Passion Play.

Ohio Woman Is Acquitted Of Homicide

Freed By Jury In Slaying Of Stepfather

A Hampshire County (W.Va.) Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon found Mrs. Alice Davis Harper, 25, of Sparta, Ohio, not guilty in the fatal shooting of her stepfather, French Junior White, 49, of Springfield, W.Va.

White died to death the night of July 11 from a 22 calibre rifle wound in the back. He died on the lawn of his home at Springfield.

Mrs. Harper testified yesterday that she fired the rifle "to scare him away" from her husband. The Ohio woman said White was pointing a shotgun at her husband, Dale, when she grabbed the rifle from her car and shot toward him. Moments before, the husband had been struck by White with the butt of the latter's 12-gauge shotgun and was lying unconscious.

No Previous Trouble
The defendant told the jury of six men and six women that she never previously had any trouble with her stepfather, whom she had seen only once before, in 1949.

William H. Ansel Jr. of Springfield, the defense attorney, also called Dale Harper and Louise White, Mrs. Harper's 12-year-old half sister, to the stand in an effort to substantiate his contention that the shooting was justifiable homicide.

The jury got the case yesterday about 3:15 p.m. (EST) and returned with its not guilty verdict about one hour and 30 minutes later. The verdict rang down the curtain on the two-day trial in the Court House at Romney.

White had been employed at the Amcelle Plant of Celanese Fibers Company for some years. His stepdaughter and her husband and children had arrived the morning of the shooting to visit her mother, Mrs. Gertrude White.

Prosecuting Attorney Ralph W. Haines called seven witnesses to the stand during the opening day of the trial Wednesday. Judge H. Gus Muntzing of Moorefield presided.

Drinking Cited
Witnesses called by Haines Wednesday explained that White and Mr. and Mrs. Harper drank a considerable quantity of beer and liquor between the time the Harpers arrived in the Hampshire County community the afternoon of July 11 and about 10 o'clock (EST) when White was fatally shot.

A family argument ensued during the afternoon and evening, witnesses said. At one point, White picked up a 12-gauge shotgun and fired into the air in the general direction of his wife, Mrs. Gertrude White, who is Mrs. Harper's mother.

Called to testify Wednesday were Mrs. Gertrude White, Clinton White, the defendant's half brother; Marjorie Steward and Elsie Steward, neighbors who received the first report that White had been shot; Sgt. R. R. Karickhoff of the Romney State Police detachment, who conducted the investigation; Trooper Ralph Keaton, who assisted in the investigation; and A. L. Russell, coroner and justice of the peace.

Donna George Gets $200 Scholarship

Miss Donna George, 516 Regina Avenue, has been granted a $200 Lutheran Youth Leadership Award by Lutheran Brotherhood, a national fraternal life insurance society.

A 1960 graduate of Allegany High School, Miss George plans to attend Lenoir Rhyne College, Hickory, N.C., this fall. Her award is one of 101 granted to high school graduates who plan to enroll at Lutheran colleges.

The scholarships are granted on the basis of outstanding achievement in school and church activities and scholastic and leadership ability.

Police Vacations, Leaves Discussed

A Police Department staff meeting was held Wednesday morning, according to Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Subjects discussed included the scheduling of vacations and the sick leave, he said.

Walsh Doubts Brother Will Survive Ordeal

HONG KONG (UPI) — Former Judge William Walsh of Cumberland, Md., said Thursday he doubts whether his brother, Roman Catholic Bishop James E. Walsh, 69, "will come out alive" from his captivity in Communist China.

Walsh and his wife arrived here on a trip to visit Bishop Walsh. The judge will continue alone to Communist China when he obtains a visa.

Walsh said he will make no requests of the Communists in an attempt to obtain his brother's release from a 20-year prison sentence, but will just visit with him.

"I am very grateful to the Chinese Red Cross and the American Red Cross for arranging this visit," he said.

Bishop Walsh, who had done missionary work in China for many years for the Maryknoll Missionary order, was placed under house arrest after the Communists came to power, then was sentenced to prison on charges of espionage.

His brother expected to visit him for two weeks, leaving for Red China next Monday.

Judge Walsh could be the fifth American to visit relatives imprisoned in Communist China.

In January, 1958, the mothers of Hugh Redmond, Yonkers, N.Y.; John Downey, New Britain, Conn.; and Richard Fecteau, Lynn, Mass., visited their sons but failed in attempts to gain their releases. Last July, Downey's younger brother, William, who accompanied his mother on the 1958 journey was allowed to see his brother.

Redmond, Downey and Fecteau are serving life sentences for alleged espionage.

Two Hurt As Car Hits Underpass

Two young men were injured shortly before midnight last night when their car struck the center dividing abutment of an underpass on Kelly Boulevard.

Jerry Swanger, about 22, of 119 Roberts Street, listed as the driver, and Thomas Edmonson, 22, of 316 Harrison Street, were taken to Memorial Hospital in the police ambulance-patrol wagon by Officers John G. Powers and Donald Davis.

Mrs. Paul McCoy, Bruce High Librarian, Retires

Mrs. Nellie Hanna McCoy, 325 Hammond Street, Westernport, librarian at Bruce High School in that community since 1943, has retired from the Allegany County public schools system.

She began her teaching career in 1910 when she was appointed teacher of commercial subjects at Littleton (N.C.) College where she taught two years.

In 1912 she went to Westernport High School (now Bruce) and taught commercial subjects from that year to 1919. She married Paul McCoy and the couple had three children.

Mrs. McCoy returned to the public schools system in 1943 when she was appointed librarian at Bruce. She attended Kee Mar

Prisoner Seeks Court Review Of Conviction

Stouffer Jailed Since March 1957

Glen E. Stouffer, who was sentenced to five years in the Maryland Penitentiary more than three years ago, has petitioned Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris for a review of his conviction under the Post Conviction Procedure Act.

Judge Harris has appointed Attorney Noel Speir Cook to represent Stouffer in the case. He has written Stouffer that Mr. Cook and State's Attorney James S. Getty will prepare memoranda of the facts and the law and then he will decide whether or not to hold a hearing in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Stouffer and three other men were found guilty March 18, 1957, by former Judge George Henderson of false pretenses in obtaining $92.68. They were accused of obtaining the funds from Mrs. Ruth Durkin, operator of the tavern at 25-27 Williams Street.

In his petition to the court, Stouffer argues that the maximum sentence for false pretenses when the amount involved is less than $100 is 18 months confinement. Stouffer further contends that he was not represented by counsel at his trial despite the fact that the docket entry in the case lists Edward J. Ryan as his attorney.

Stouffer was one of four men against whom a criminal information was filed March 8, 1957. They were tried and convicted by Judge Henderson on March 18, 1957, and Stouffer got the stiffest sentence.

Raymond T. Gallagher drew four years in the Maryland Penitentiary, David M. Gallagher, three years in the Maryland House of Correction and Alfred T. Cannon two years in the House of Correction. Raymond Gallagher's sentence was suspended on May 16, 1957.

Stouffer was delivered to the penitentiary on March 20, 1957, and was transferred to the House of Correction on May 14 of the same year.

Overnight Camp Held

Thirty-three "Y" day campers and five leaders camped out last night in the second overnight camp-out of the current program.

Plans were made by Karl Van-Newkirk, counselor in charge of the camp-out program. The first program of this nature was held in the first two-week period of the season. The camp-out during the second period was rained out.

Attending the camp-out last night were Al Pettit, Carolyn Skidmore, John Sullivan, Ray Tallman, Randy Dove, John Walburn, Tommy Dove, Steve Ruby, Tommy Carscaden, Mike Malloy, Don Genivieve, Scott Dineen, Jim Wolf, Barry Anderson, Billy Wilcox, Paula Buchanan, Debby Weimer, Pete Mellin, Steve Schowengrind, Gary Taschenberger, Robert Brinsmade, Brock Jenkins, Lynn Hughes, Nancy Cochener, Dave Walls, Johnny Twigg, Billy Eyer, Steve Eyer, Kathy Buchanan, Karen Buchanan and Eric Sandhoff.

Leaders included Karl Van-Newkirk, Janet Shanholzt, Judy McKenty, Sue Wilcox, and B. U. Smith.

Home Is Planned On Shriver Avenue

Joseph F. Reissig, 508 Shriver Avenue, received a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a one-story dwelling at 614 Shriver Avenue.

It will be built of concrete block and be 31 by 45 feet. Cost was estimated at $8,000.

Mrs. Shobe Will Attend Convention

Mrs. Rosalie C. Shobe, Fort Hill High School teacher, is one of over 2,000 educators planning to attend the international convention of Delta Kappa Gamma, international honor society for women teachers, at the Americana Hotel in Bal Harbour, Fla., August 10-13.

Mrs. Shobe is first vice president of Eta chapter, comprised of about 45 teachers from Allegany and Garrett counties.

Highlight of the convention will be the awarding of 56 scholarships for advanced study valued at $2,500 each. Dr. Carolyn Guss of Indiana University, chairman of the special scholarship committee, will make the presentation at the birthday luncheon on Thursday, August 11. Contributions from the nearly 75,000 members of the society have made this possible. One scholarship will be awarded in each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia and five Canadian provinces in which the society was organized when the project was undertaken in 1958.

The Educator's Award—a gift of $1,000 for the most significant contribution to education written by a woman between April 1, 1958, and April 1, 1960, also will be presented.

Featured speakers for the convention will be Mrs. Margaret Konantz, O.B.E. (Order of the British Empire) of Winnipeg, Manitoba, the national vice president of the United Nations Association, and Dr. Anne Gary Pannell, president of Sweet Briar College in Virginia.

Hughes Defends County Census As Accurate

George R. Hughes Jr., Cumberland attorney who served as supervisor of the 1960 census in the five Maryland counties of the Sixth Congressional District, expressed regrets that Allegany County's population dropped more than 5,000 in the decade between 1950 and 1960, but asserted that the new head count was as accurate as could be made.

Mr. Hughes was the speaker at yesterday's meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA.

Allegany County's population dropped from 89,556 in 1950 to 83,834 this year. Garrett County also declined, from 21,259 to 20,253.

On the other hand, Montgomery County, the suburban Washington county, more than doubled in 10 years, from 164,401 to 338,188. Mr. Hughes cited one little incident which showed the fast growth in Montgomery County. A part of the 1960 census was a count of dwelling units. Anything with a roof and flooring was to be counted.

When an enumerator was making a second check in part of Montgomery County he found that seven apartment buildings, each with 20 units, had been overlooked in the housing count. A conference with the builder and architect revealed that these buildings had literally "sprung up" between the preliminary housing count and the second check.

Washington and Frederick counties both gained during the past decade. Washington County advanced from 78,886 to 89,237 and Frederick County from 62,287 to 71,965.

$200 Dwelling Will Be Built
Alfred Kline yesterday obtained a permit from James G. Stevenson, clerk to the county commissioners, to build a small dwelling for $200 on Brice Hollow Road in Election District 16.

The frame house will be 12 by 24 feet in size and will be built on a .88 acre tract.

Playgrounds Hold Annual Bike Rodeo

Parades Staged Before Contests

Winners in the annual bicycle rodeo sponsored by the City Recreation Department were announced yesterday by Mrs. Eva Hogan, general playground supervisor.

The test of bicycle riding skills included tests of straight riding, weaving and circling. Contests were held in three areas of the city ending yesterday.

The Area 1 rodeo, for West Side, Ridgedale and Mt. Royal playgrounds, was held Wednesday afternoon at West Side.

Richard Gilmore, West Side, won the first place trophy for the 6-12 age group, and Alvin Harris, also of West Side, took the second place award.

Michael Haines, West Side, won top honors in the 13-15 age group, and Richard Walker, Mt. Royal, won second prize.

Area Contests Held
The rodeo for Columbia Street, North End, Centre Street and Gephart playgrounds was held yesterday at Columbia Street.

Bobby Martin, North End, finished in first place in the contest for 6-8-year-olds and Freddie Garber, Centre Street, won second prize.

John Ritchie, Centre Street, and Clayton Rice, North End, won the contest for the 9-11 age group and Ronnie Yalder, Columbia Street, won first and second prizes in the 13-15 age group.

Johnson Heights Playground was the site yesterday for the rodeo for Johnson Heights, Pine Avenue, East Side, Mapleside, Penn Avenue, Virginia Avenue and Post playgrounds.

Winners were Tony Weber, Johnson Heights, and Roger Plummer, Pine Avenue, 6-8; Harold Palumbo, East Side, and Allen Brewington, Pine Avenue, 9, 12, and Jay Carnell, Johnson Heights, and Larry Garlitz, Virginia Avenue, 13-15.

Parades Held
A feature of all the contests proved to be the bicycle parades held before the test of skills began.

Mrs. Eva Hogan, general playground supervisor, said the youths used a great deal of ingenuity in decorating the bikes.

One, she said, was decorated to resemble an airplane, another a horse's head and a third, a mounted policeman.

A number of girls wearing dancing costumes and riding brightly decorated bikes added color to the rodeo.

Downpour Floods Everett, Pa., Blocks Traffic

A heavy downpour of rain last night flooded downtown Everett, Pa. where traffic was tied up for some time when a large limb from a tree fell across the main street during the storm.

Water seeped into the lobby of the Juniata Hotel in Everett and cellars of business places in the downtown area were flooded with water up to six and seven inches in depth.

The heavy downpour of rain about 9:30 p.m. fell for about 15 minutes. High winds, lightning and a hard rain hit the Bedford area, although no serious damage was reported to State Police, who said there were no serious highway accidents.

Owens Will Speak At Church Service

Ralph Owens, Akron, a former resident, will speak at the morning worship service in Woodlawn Methodist Church Sunday.

He is active in youth work and helps sponsor the Akron Christian Grade School. He is also active in evangelistic work and with his wife, the former Mary Dods of Lonaconing, attended the "Back to the Bible" conference in Lincoln, Neb.

South Africa Missionary Will Speak Here Sunday

Miss Irma V. Koffel, Nazarene nurse and missionary to Transvaal, South Africa, who is on furlough in the United States, will be guest speaker Sunday during services at First Church of the Nazarene, 508 Oldtown Road.

Rev. H. E. Heckert, pastor, said she will speak at worship services beginning at 10:45 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. She is in deputa-tion among churches of the denomination.

This will be her second visit to the homeland since she first went to Africa in October 1945. She was home from 1951 to 1952.

For the past four years, she has been the missionary supervisor at Carolina, Transvaal. She has been manager of the school there, has been in charge of medical work, has been active in evangelistic work and instrumental in the organization of churches and Sunday schools.

Miss Koffel served previously at Nazarene stations in Bremers-dorp, Stegi and Endingen. A native of North Wales, Pa., she

Kelly Wage Talks Are Recessed

Local 26 Studies Akron Developments

Wage negotiations between Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, AFL-CIO, and the Kelly Springfield Tire Company have been recessed, according to Alva C. Lewis, president of the local.

Earlier this month, the Kelly local met with company negotiators and formally submitted a request for a general wage increase.

Mr. Lewis said the negotiations were then recessed until a later date to be agreed on by the company and the union.

The wage talks are being held in connection with a wage re-opening clause in the working agreement for the local tire plant.

Similar negotiations are being held between the URWA and major rubber companies, and there is little likelihood that wage talks will resume here until a pattern is set by the major firms.

The Local 26 wage negotiating committee includes Herbert Dye and William Sheetz, for production division workers; George Simmons and Nelson Brant, representing mechanical division crews, and Mr. Lewis.

Company C Inspected At Armory

Company C, First Medium Tank Battalion, 115th Armor, Maryland National Guard, Wednesday night had a command inspection by battalion officers at the new armory on Brown Avenue.

The inspection covered administration, supply and maintenance of the tank company.

Those in the inspection party were Major Paul Lord, staff assistant; Captain Robert Andres, motor officer; Lt. Thomas Conlon Jr., communications officer; Joseph Jolly, personnel officer; M. Sgt. Robert Wade, sergeant major, and Sgt. William Shipway, motor sergeant.

Sgt. Louis Jordan of the Army Advisor's office also made an informal inspection of the unit.

Captain Eugene M. Light, company commander, said that six new members have joined the unit. Three of the men, James McKenzie and Thomas Cecil, Triple Lakes, and Richard Lutzer, Cresaptown, all seniors at Allegany High School, will be given six months of active duty basic training within 120 days after graduation.

Recruits Leonard Beard, 331 Central Avenue; Claude Comer, Ridgeley, and Sp4 Stanley Teets, 9 Race Street, a veteran who served on Okinawa with the First Missile Battalion, also joined the company.

Privates George Thomas, 25 Virginia Avenue and John Stull, 702 Shriver Avenue, will leave here August 6 for Fort Knox, Ky., where they will undergo regular Army basic training for 12 weeks and basic armor training for 12 weeks.

Captain Light pointed out that vacancies still exist in the armored unit for prior service men or young men with a military obligation to serve.

LaVale Firemen Get Two Calls
Volunteer firemen of LaVale had two rather unusual calls yesterday.

About 5 p.m. they were called to the home of James Drummond when the television set shorted out. The volunteers carried the set outside and damage was confined to the appliance.

In the other call about 7:30 p.m. an oil flare used as a warning to motorists at the site of improvement work on U.S. Route 40 tipped over, setting a wooden horse on fire.

Planning Group Discusses Pact Changes

County Master Plan Proposal Outlined

Allegany County's Planning and Zoning Commission devoted virtually all of its meeting last night at the Court House to a discussion of proposed revisions in the commission's contract with Ladislav Segoe and Associates, Cincinnati, Ohio, for the development of a comprehensive county master plan.

Four of the five commission members were on hand for the meeting with Julian W. Tarrant of Richmond, Va., a senior associate in the Segoe firm. He will have primary responsibility for the master plan development here.

Attending the session at the Court House were Richard Winer, chairman; Ralph W. Race, James E. Perrin and County Commissioner John T. Mason. The fifth member, Alvin H. Ter-nent, was absent.

Interim Zoning Dropped
In the interest of economy, the commission informed Mr. Tarrant last night that one phase of the proposed comprehensive county master plan will be deleted during the first year of the contract. This involves interim zoning regulations for immediate adoption to protect the general public interests until completion of the master plan studies and the comprehensive zoning ordinance.

The preliminary outline for the county master plan covers base maps, research and surveys and master plan elements.

Maps would be of three types. First there would be a regional map, for portrayal of regional relationships and studies in respect to railroads, highways, airports and nearby urban centers. Secondly, there would be a county map showing the entire county on a single map of suitable scale and reasonable size for depicting various plans and information.

Finally, there would be sectional county maps for the entire county at 600 or 800-foot scale. For parts of the county urbanized or which may be expected to become urbanized within 20 to 30 years and unincorporated towns in rural areas, maps would be at 300 to 400-foot scale.

Six groupings are included under research and surveys. First, there would be history, topography, geology, climate, personality and general appearance. Then comes population, including growth, distribution, and characteristics, present conditions, trends and future prospects.

Economic Base
Next is the economic base of the county. This would encompass agriculture, mining, trade, services, industry, occupations and incomes. It would include present conditions, trends and future prospects with recommendations for strengthening the economic base through sound industrial developments and other means.

Another listing involves land uses. This would include the use, condition, occupancy of buildings, structures and lands, present conditions, trends and estimated requirements with land values and trends.

Also included under research and surveys are traffic and water, sewer, gas, electric power and other utilities and services.

Under master plan elements are listed land use and highways

Truck Driver Of Baltimore Killed By Rig

A Baltimore truck driver was fatally injured yesterday about 7:40 a.m. when he was run over by a tractor-trailer at the intersection of U. S. Route 30 and State Route 45 east of Romney.

State Police at Romney reported that James Lewis Coley, 35, Baltimore, was one of three tractor-trailer drivers who were operating three rigs on a trip to Point Pleasant, W. Va.

The trio of huge vehicles pulled in at the Log Cabin tavern and service station to "gas up."

Coley was at the rear of one of the vehicles and when it pulled out the rear wheels of the trailer passed over his body. One set of wheels crushed the upper part of his body while the other passed over his legs.

William Alfred Brown, 61, of 1108 West Saratoga Street, Baltimore, was operating the rig which ran over Coley.

Brown said he was unaware that Coley was near his truck and he stopped when he heard screams and someone shout: "You've run over your buddy."
